BERRY DEFENDS MARBLE DEALS AT TVA INQUIRY

Forecast of Morgan Ouster Revealed.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Senator George L. Berry [D., Tenn.] took the stand in his own defense today before the congressional committee investigating TVA. He denied charges of bad faith and attempted fraud in his purchase of marble and mineral leases in the area flooded by Norris dam.

Prior to Berry's appearance another witness told the committee that an associate of the senator predicted in 1935 that Dr. Arthur E. Morgan would be ousted as TVA chairman and that Berry's marble claims then would be settled. This witness was William H. Ford, once associated with Berry in obtaining the marble leases. The Berry marble claims were found worthless by a federal court commission last March.

Charges Confiscation.

Senator Berry, attired in brown, declared in his defense before the committee that his property in the Norris reservoir area had been confiscated. He said he would continue his legal fight to collect damages for the flooded deposits.

The senator testified that the marble leases held by him and his associates were negotiated in 1932, before TVA was created. He said he had not expected Norris dam would flood his property. [A dam project at the Norris site had been advocated in congress years before. It has been testified at the present hearings that some of the leases in the area were old ones renewed in 1932, when the building of a dam became more of a certainty.]

"If Norris dam had been carried out on the basis of the army engineers' plan," said the senator, "its height would not have been so great."

Denies Selling to U. S.

Berry denied that he knew marble from his quarry was used in a federal warehouse at Washington. He said he had sold no marble to the federal government nor any other government. The marble he has sold he said, has been to the fabricator, delivered in block.

Berry pictured his activities as those of a prospector seeking to develop zinc, lead, and marble. Zinc and lead were the first minerals sought, he said. Marble was discovered later. The senator staked two prospectors, Ford and C. A. Harris, he said, and they got the leases in the names of Ford and Harris.

Berry said he financed the work of Ford and Harris in taking out the leases and that he spent $13,126.17 between Feb. 19, 1932, and Sept. 30, 1932. He estimated he spent $25,000 on lead, zinc, and marble development.

The senator insisted that no specific figure has ever been placed on the value of the marble claims by himself or his associates.

Expects Compensation.

"I have made no demand upon TVA for any specific amount of damage," said Berry. "I have authorized no one to make a demand for any specific amount. I have, however, insisted that I be compensated for damage sustained, whatever the amount may be and by whatever process may be regarded as fair, just, and equitable. The matter is now subject to litigation in the federal courts, and it will be my purpose to pursue to the fullest degree my rights in securing an equitable settlement."

[At the condemnation trial last winter before the federal court commission, counsel for the Berry interests spoke of a value of not less than $5,000,000.]

Questioned by Representative Charles A. Wolverton [R., N. J.], Berry said he played only a small part in the reappointment of TVA Director David E. Lilienthal. He denied that he recommended him. Lilienthal was reappointed May 18, 1936, by President Roosevelt against the wishes of Dr. Morgan. Dr. Morgan was ousted by the President last March 22.

Disagrees on Shares.

Ford had testified earlier in the day that Berry was to have a 50 per cent interest in the marble leases and Ford and Harris 25 per cent each. Berry testified the two prospectors wanted him to take 50 per cent as his share, but he declined and said to make it 33 1-3 per cent.

CHARGE GUFFEY VOTE FRAUD IN PENN PRIMARY

WPA Shakedown Is Laid to Senator.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—The senate committee on campaign expenditures today decided that the sending of thousands of letters over the signature of Senator Joseph F. Guffey was a violation of federal criminal statutes.

Senator Guffey. [Harris & Ewing Photo.]

The letters were sent to WPA workers in Pennsylvania. They bore Guffey's signature in his capacity as chairman of the Democratic campaign committee in Pennsylvania. They were criticized as an attempt to shake down the WPA workers for Democratic campaign fund contributions.

Charges Made by Own Party.

The committee making these charges is controled by Democrats. It is headed by the mild mannered Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas.

The committee also told WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, whose self-investigation found no evidence of WPA political activity in the recent Kentucky senatorial primary, to look again. As a guide for Hopkins the committee voted to turn over to him its evidence on the Kentucky primary campaign.

The committee previously had said the shakedown of federal and state employés and the use by both sides in Kentucky of public funds was so deplorable it should arouse the conscience of the country.

Backed by 75,000 on WPA.

President Roosevelt's "Dear Alben" Barkley, senate majority leader, had the support of 75,000 WPA workers and federal officeholders in that campaign, wherein he defeated Gov. A. B. [Happy] Chandler, whose state machine numbered about 17,000.

The committee said it was continuing its investigation in Kentucky. Whatever Hopkins may do, it appears certain that the committee will make a report to the senate that will illuminate the methods used to save "Dear Alben" for the President.

This report will be given to the committee on privileges and elections headed by Senator Walter F. George of Georgia. Senator George has been denounced by President Roosevelt as a reactionary. He will know from personal experience what the WPA and federal officeholders' machine can do since he must seek renomination in a primary Sept. 14. The President has asked for his defeat.

Barkley Safe as Senator.

There is not the slightest chance in the world to unseat Barkley as a senator. But a scathing report from the campaign expenditures committee and another from the privileges and elections committee would destroy any lofty assumptions of political morality and idealism on Barkley's part, if President Roosevelt should decide against a third term race for himself and favor Barkley instead.

Although finding that Senator Guffey, another yes-man and sturdy pillar of the Roosevelt administration, had violated the criminal code, the campaign committee decided to defer action until he returns from Europe.

Letter Bears His Signature.

The committee, in reaching its decision, considered a letter bearing Guffey's signature and sent to thousands of WPA workers and other federal employés in Pennsylvania, soliciting funds for the campaign of Gov. George H. Earle for the senate and C. Alvin Jones for governor.

"In the opinion of the committee the above letter, if sent to any federal employé, involves a violation of section 208 of the United States criminal code," said the committee statement. "In view of Senator Guffey's absence in Europe and the statement by a member of his office staf that Senator Guffey had no knowledge of the issuance of the letter, and did not authorize it, the committee thinks it proper to defer action on the matter until Senator Guffey returns."

Section 208 forbids the solicitation by any federal office holder of political funds from any person receiving federal compensation.

JUNGLE STORIES

The Purge Cat was very angry. He had come to the stream to purr over his own beautiful reflection. Something was roiling the waters. As Purge watched the distorted image, he hissed his anger. He huffed and he puffed, but to no avail. The old hard-shell turtle kept right on muddying the stream. He paid no heed to Purge's caterwauling. "My friends," began Purge, who always started a sentence with a purr and ended it with a snarl, "you and I know that . . ."

"Burp! Burp!" interrupted the tortoise.

Purge was very discomfited in other ways, too. He had sat in a steel trap while marching through Georgia. See the steel trap? The little Cheetah wasn't feeling so well, either. He was engaged in a terrific struggle with a newshawk who had ruffled up his sleek coating. "Ki-yi! Ki-yi! Yippy, Ki-Yi" yodled the cheetah in utmost pain. He was calling to the Purge Cat, "O, papa, do something! Do something, quick!"

QUESTIONS.—Do you see the Jackal and the Buzzard discussing the welfare of the goat? Wonder what they are saying? See the Roothog? He is trying to bring prosperity to the land by destroying the crops. See the grassHopkins leaning on a shovel? He is Purge's chief adviser and vote buyer.

A GEORGIAN PICKS HIS TICKET AND HE GIVES REASONS WHY!

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—A current political story tells about the views of an elderly crossroads citizen in the southwestern part of the state. He has announced his stand, as the national importance of the senatorial primary fight has become a leading topic even at the crossroad intersections.

"I'm for Gene Talmadge, Ed Rivers [the governor running for reelection] and President Roosevelt," said the old Georgian. "Gene Talmadge will give me forty acres of land, Ed Rivers will exempt it from taxes, and the President will pay me not to work it. Yes, sir, that's my ticket."

LAW OF GRAVITY OVERWEIGHS HIS GOLF BALL WOES

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 16.—(AP)—H. H. Gering exhibited fifty-one golf balls in Circuit Judge Churchill Humphrey's court today. He said they were picked up on his lawn since May and he wanted it stopped.

Gering asked an injunction to prevent members of the Audubon Country club from the use of No. 4 tee. His property lies about 225 yards from the tee, and he said the balls whizzed by his ears as he cut grass.

Judge Humphrey enjoined members of the club from going onto Gering's grounds to get sliced balls, but he said a court couldn't control the slice of a golf ball because the "law of gravity takes a precedence over the law of man."

Carries 5 Years' Savings, Weight 60 Pounds, to Bank

Watkins Glen, N. Y., Aug. 16.—(AP)—"These have been around the house long enough," grunted Bert Barker as he heaved a 60 pound package on the cashier's desk in the Watkins Glen bank. "These" turned out to be two thousand 50 cent pieces. Barker took a $1,000 credit in his bank book and explained: "I've been saving 'em for five years."

Canaries Trail Their Baby 100 Miles to City

BY MARCIA WINN.

If he had read it in a newspaper, J. Harry Louden says, he never would have believed it. But in his own apartment at 6538 Lakewood avenue is what he considers visible proof for this story.

This proof began last May 27, as Mr. Louden tells the tale. He and his wife had arrived at an auto camp in St. Joseph, Mich., in the wake of a flock of wild canaries. Wandering through the camp, they found a baby canary with a broken wing.

The foundling was dun colored with a lemon yellow breast. They took it to a veterinarian. He supervised the setting of its broken wing and gradually nursed it back to health. Later, as it became stronger, he took it for walk-flights around the camp.

One day, as he and the baby canary were out walk-flying, two adult canaries appeared overhead. The male was vividly colored with jet black topknot and jet black wing tips against a brilliant yellow body. The female was marked like the foundling.

Singing wildly, the pair circled above the wounded baby, swooping down toward the ground, then away, then back again. These, Louden was sure, were the parents. But as he and his wife packed to come home, bringing the baby canary with them, he thought no more of it.

The baby, named "Billy," was given the freedom of the Louden apartment. It spent much of its time caroling gaily in a window. Then last Thursday Mrs. Louden heard an undue amount of singing and peered out.

"And there," she recounted, "was Billy singing wildly inside the window and, perched on a ledge outside, two adults, singing back at him."

The pair remained only five minutes, she said, but reappeared the next day. The female, timorous and wild, withdrew to a tree. The male, vividly marked with jetblack topknot and wings, approached the window, singing furiously as before. When the window was opened he flew in.

Teaches Baby a Trick.

He stayed only briefly, but returned twice and finally settled quietly on a perch. He is still there, a merry, vocal fellow who sings without end and shares Billy's cage at night. What is more, he has taught Billy a trick: To sleep standing on one leg.

"Where did he come from?" Louden asks. "Why, St. Joseph, of course. It took him a long time, but that's 100 miles, you know. It's a long flight, yes, but he had every reason to come here if he could possibly find the little dickens—and he did.

"I know it sounds fishy, but he's Billy's father. I'm sure of it. I could never mistake those vivid markings."

And Mrs. Louden agrees.

"I'm positive, too," she said. "He was determined to get in here, and I don't think a strange bird would have done that."

'HE DIED RIGHT NOW,' SO SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD WAIVES PROOF

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—(AP)—The Social Security board's request for proof of death of a Kentucky mountaineer brought this reply:

"This deceased didn't have no doctor.

He didn't have no undertaker.

He died right now.

He died from gunshot wounds."

HAM FISH YOUR CONGRESSMAN, PRESIDENT TOLD

New York, Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Representative John J. O'Connor, who is on the Roosevelt Democratic purge list, made a prompt reply tonight to the President's statement calling for his defeat. "The voters of the 16th [O'Connor's district] will decide who will represent them in the house of representatives," O'Connor said. "The President lives in the 26th congressional district. Ham Fish is his congressman." Hamilton Fish is a Republican.

Liner Duchess of Athol and Freighter in Collision

New York, Aug. 16.—[Special.]—The Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Atholl and the freighter Domby collided today near Father Point, Que., in the St. Lawrence river. The liner was en route from Montreal, Que., on the last of four New York cruises scheduled for this year. Though damaged slightly in the bow, the ship resumed the voyage, the New York office of the line reported.

Corrigan Will Greet 100,000 at Music Fete

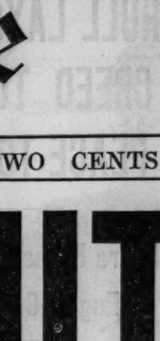
The climax of Chicago's reception for Douglas Corrigan, who startled the world by his flight from Brooklyn to Dublin, will come Saturday night when he will be welcomed by 100,000 folks at the Chicagoland Music Festival. This was announced last night by Barnet Hodes, chairman of Mayor Kelly's New Century committee.



Mayor Edward J. Kelly.

Corrigan not only will be seen and heard at Soldiers' field, but dramatic ceremonies will take place there. They will top off a day of great entertainment for the cheery young pilot who crossed the Atlantic while flying to California. The mayor will express Chicago's pride in Corrigan's achievement. Corrigan will speak to the largest single gathering that has marked his return from Ireland.

He's Still California Bound.

Yesterday he started for California in earnest, but leisurely. Previously, with the same destination in mind, he flew east, over the sea. Yesterday he flew north—to Albany, the first leg of his triumphal tour home.

Corrigan will land at Municipal airport Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. There he will be met by the mayor, members of the mayor's New Century committee, and the Chicago aerial commission.

His route from the airport to the loop will be Cicero avenue to Garfield boulevard to Michigan avenue.

Parade to Form at Congress Plaza.

A parade will form at the air line flagship on exhibition at the Congress street plaza. It will proceed to Randolph street, west to State, south to Jackson boulevard, west to La Salle street, and north on La Salle to the city hall.

There in the mayor's offices Mr. Kelly will present the flyer with a certificate prepared by the New Century committee designating Corrigan Chicago's good will amabassador.

The escort then will take Corrigan to the Blackstone hotel, where he will be the luncheon guest of aldermen and city officials. At 3:30 p. m. the young pilot, the mayor, and the committee will make a tour of Chicago's parks and boulevards.

Dinner to Precede Festival.

At 6:30 the New Century committee will give a dinner in Corrigan's honor. Then at 9:15 p. m. Corrigan will be driven to Soldiers' field for the big ceremonies of the day.

When he left New York yesterday on the first leg of his tour Corrigan still wore the old lether windbreaker he has worn throughout the days of lionizing and festivities that have followed his return. He did, however, have on a new, and bright green, shirt.

WORKERS REBEL WHEN DRAFTED TO STATE TASKS

Wives Lie on Tracks; Block Trains.

BY JOHN DICKSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 16.—Mutinies were reported today in Germany among workers who had been drafted for "state tasks."

The disorders arose partly from an undercurrent of fear that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler might impress the men who were called under the compulsory labor service law into military service.

Yesterday and today the labor service men were leaving Berlin at the same time that military reserves were departing for maneuvers in camps on the borders of Czechoslovakia, France, and Poland.

The men were leaving their homes and their regular jobs for destinations and tasks unknown to them.

When the workers were told that while they were away they could communicate with their homes only by postcard they broke into open rebellion.

Secret Police Board Train.

There were various incidents in Berlin. One took place in the Potsdam railway station in the center of the city and another in the Lehrte station on the outskirts. A third took place in the station of Spandau, a Berlin suburb.

One train was held up for two hours because each time it started workers pulled the alarm cord and brought it to a halt. Secret police entered the train and enforced orders to allow its departure.

In another instance women who were in a station to bid their men good-by hurled themselves on the track to block the train.

"We know it means war and we don't want our men to go to it!" the women screamed.

Hereafter women will be forbidden to go to the stations with the drafted men.

Must Leave Regular Jobs.

The labor conscription law, affecting men and women, was decreed in June by Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering. He is Reichsfuehrer Hitler's right hand man and chief of the Nazi four year plan for economic independence.

The "strength of labor" law permits directors of the four year plan to draft executives, engineers, and skilled workmen for "urgent tasks." Employers must grant them leaves of absence and reëmploy them when they are released by the government. Another law permits the state to draft personal goods and houses for military uses.

It was believed many of the labor conscripts leaving Berlin this week were being sent to steel plants and to help build roads and fortifications in the Rhineland and on Germany's other borders.

RECRUIT BORDER TROOPS

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—The permanent fortifications which Germany is building along her western borders and elsewhere are so near completion that the military authorities are forming permanent stafs to garrison them.

A proclamation issued tonight called on former and active noncommissioned officers of the army, navy, and air force to volunteer as personnel "for the upkeep of fortifications." The candidates must pledge to serve a total of twelve years.

With England, France, and Germany's other neighbors alarmed by the size of the forces which Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler has mobilized for fall maneuvers, Hitler is planning to spend much time in the coming weeks in visiting the most important military centers in Germany.

Seek to Impress French.

Experts say that in this first week of the mobilization of Germany's reserves, 300,000 men have joined the new reserve divisions. They expect at least another 200,000 will be called within the next five weeks. Thus in the second part of September Germany will have more than a million and a half men under arms, including the regular army.

To impress the French with their tremendous "preparedness" the Germans invited Gen. Joseph Vuillemin, chief of staf of the French air force, to visit Germany. Vuillemin and five aids arrived by plane today. They will inspect plane factories and air ports and talk with German air chiefs.

It was expected the French party would be shown some of the air stunts which last week impressed Air Marshal Italo Balbo of Italy during his visit to Germany.

For the casual observer there is little evidence in Berlin and other cities of the mobilization of Germany's reserves. But German employers expand on their new difficulties.

The former Ullstein publishing concern, which has been fully Nazified, had to give leaves to hundreds of workers who were drafted as reserves and for conscripted labor. The same is true of all other concerns.

Big breweries and milk companies complain that their business is suffering because their trucks, teamsters, and horses were requisitioned or rented by the government.

Can't Buy Bag of Cement.

The big Landrock laundry firm has informed its clients that it must drop 60,000 of them from its list "because we lack workers."

Automobile owners have been warned by filling stations that their supplies of gasoline are being rationed. Most of the high grade benzines are being reserved for aviation.

It is impossible for the ordinary German citizen to buy a bag of cement to repair his own house. All supplies are reserved for the use of the government, most of them being sent to the western districts for the building of new fortifications.

The general nervousness was reflected in a further slump on the German stock exchange. Many stocks dropped 20 to 30 per cent below the quotations of last year.

CZECHS STUDY WAR COSTS

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 16.—The financial aspects of national defense were discussed at a meeting of the supreme defense council today.

Premier Milan Hodza.

The cost of a partial mobilization on May 21, when an invasion by Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany was feared, was studied as an indication of the cost of future mobilization on a larger scale. The council was told of the number of men now under arms in Czechoslovakia, but the figure was carefully kept from the public.

First Meeting Since April.

Premier Milan Hodza presided over the council which brought together the military, financial, economic and political chiefs of the government. This was the first meeting of the full council since April. In view of the mobilization of German reserves taking place across the border, the government sought to quiet public fears by asserting the meeting was a routine affair.

Despite this, the German maneuvers, to some extent, are having the effect which Hitler is credited with wishing to produce. There is uneasiness based on the belief that the fate of Czechoslovakia may depend far less on what happens inside the country than on what is decided somewhere on the outside by a small number of men, especially Hitler.

Discuss Minorities Today.

Most people believe Czechoslovakia is safe from war as long as Viscount Runciman and his British peace mission remain in Prague. The public counts on at least six weeks more of peace.

The minorities problem, which is most likely to be Hitler's pretext for war, will have a cabinet hearing tomorrow. The chiefs of the government parties will face the delegates of the Sudeten [Nazi] German party.

The government already has rejected the Sudeten demand for territorial autonomy.

HULL LAYS DOWN CREED TO BRING PEACE TO WORLD

Fears Present Trend Will Engulf Civilization.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull tonight warned the nations of the world that the present tide of international lawlessness threatens to engulf civilization. Unless it is checked, he said, the world is headed toward a "maelstrom of unregulated and savage, economic, political and military competition and conflict."

In a radio address Mr. Hull called upon the nations of the world to rally to the support of "the only program which can place the world firmly upon the one and only roadway to enduring peace and security." He gave as that program the creed for peace promulgated by the Pan-American conference at Buenos Aires in 1936.

Calls No Nation by Name.

Mr. Hull made no reference to any nation by name. But he turned his words toward the nations more immediately concerned in conflicts in the far east and in Spain, and to central Europe, where nations are eyeing anxiously the massed goosestepping of the German army.

"Unfortunately, the disintegration of the structure of world order under law and the abandonment or repudiation of principles underlying it have proceeded with staggering rapidity," Hull said. "Orderly and peaceful processes and methods of international coöperation have in many regions given way to military aggression and armed force."

Today, the secretary said, we witness invasion of territory of sovereign states, destruction of lawfully constituted governments, and forcible seizure of hitherto independent political entities. We see wholesale violation of established treaty obligations and growing disregard of universally accepted principles of international law.

"Threat to Civilization."

"Attempts to adjust internal differences by armed force rather than by methods of pacific settlement, contemptuous brushing aside of rules of morality—all these appalling manifestations of disintegration seriously threaten the very foundations of our civilization," said Mr. Hull.

Because the processes of disintegration and deterioration are spreading in many directions, he asserted, the curative processes must be no less broad in scope and more effective in character. He offered the seven points arrived at by the Buenos Aires conference.

Essentially, these are: Economic reconstruction as the foundation of national and international stability; adherence to the basic principles of international law; respect and observance of treaties; abstention from the use of armed force and the use of peaceful negotiation in the settlement of differences; limitation and reduction of armaments; and coöperation and collaboration among the nations to promote peaceful adjustment of all controversies.

Can't Remain Unaffected.

Hull argued that no matter what may be the wishes and hopes of the American people, they can not remain unaffected by trouble elsewhere. Destruction, impoverishment and starvation in other nations, he said, impair economic well being here.

"When the dignity of the human soul is denied in great parts of the world," he continued, "and when that denial is made a slogan under which propaganda is set in motion and armies take the field, no one of us can be sure that his country or even his home is safe.

"We well know, of course, that a condition of wholesale chaos will not develop overnight. But it is clear that the present trend is in that direction. The longer this drift continues the greater becomes the danger."

Hull averred that it is necessary for the United States as a nation to become increasingly resolute—within the range of the traditional American policy of nonentanglement—in behalf of the Buenos Aires program.

"As more and more nations accept this program it will become more clear—even to the nations which now profess to place their reliance solely on a policy of armed force—that the overwhelming majority of mankind is determined to live in a world in which lawlessness will not be tolerated," he concluded.

LINDBERGHS LAND IN WARSAW ON HOP TO MOSCOW

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed here tonight in their monoplane on a flight from England to Moscow by way of Hanover, Germany. Lindbergh said they planned to leave for soviet Russia tomorrow.

When they landed at Warsaw's airport the flying couple had no Polish money. A Polish newspaperman paid for their taxi to a hotel. Later the Lindberghs dined at the American embassy.

It was understood Lindbergh plans to attend a meeting in Moscow Thursday at which soviet North Pole flyers will discuss possibilities of a flight from somewhere near the North Pole to the South Pole area. Dispatches from Moscow said the Lindberghs would witness a huge air parade as part of aviation day celebrations.

1 KILLED, 6 HURT IN EXPLOSION ON U. S. SUBMARINE

HONOLULU, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Clarence B. Shepherd of Paris, Idaho, died today of injuries received in an explosion of oil fumes aboard the submarine Nautilus. He was 29 years old.

Navy officials said six others injured in the same explosion were "doing all right."

The explosion occurred while the crew was making engine adjustments after the 378 foot submarine returned from a sea trip yesterday. Navy officials attributed the blast to oil fumes from the crank case of a Diesel engine. The submarine was slightly damaged.

Capture Two Chicagoans as Rum Runners; 1 Shot

Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Two alleged rum runners were captured and one of them shot by state police in an attempted escape late today near the city limits. William Eddelen, 27 years old, was wounded in the leg. He gave his address to state police as the Terminal hotel, Chicago. His condition was reported serious. A man who gave his name as Alfred Belmonte, 23, of 2435 West Polk street, Chicago, was jailed on a charge of transporting illicit alcohol. Eddelen was held on an open charge. Lieut. Walter Metzger of the state police said officers found 215 gallons of alcohol on which no tax had been paid in the men's light motor car.

TWO QUESTIONED IN SLAYING OF SPORTS WRITER

CRIMINAL COURT.
Roy Kleckner, crime against nature, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge George Fred Rush.

Two colored men, one a confessed killer, were questioned yesterday about the murder of Paul Davidson Maclean, a sports writer for the University of Chicago publicity department. Maclean was found beaten to death May 2 in an alley near Rhodes avenue and 62d street.

The men under questioning were Wesley Boatright, 17 years old, 6502 State street, and Charles Ainslee, 16, of 6550 State street. Boatright has confessed killing Wesley Van Norman of 7127 South Wabash avenue in a holdup Friday night, according to Capt. Patrick Healy of the Englewood police. Ainslee has admitted being present when Van Norman was slain, but denies sharing the $1.10 loot. They will be arraigned today on the charge of killing Van Norman. Neither prisoner has made any admissions in the Maclean killing.

FOREIGN DISTRICT VIOLATED, NOTE TO JAPS CHARGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 17.—[Thursday.]—Japanese today stood accused of violating the neutrality of the Shanghai international settlement and of taking part in terroristic acts last week-end.

Officials of the foreign area yesterday sent a protest note to the Japanese consulate general.

The note pointed out that settlement police seized a quantity of hand grenades in a hotel room in the settlement which was occupied by Japanese. The note called attention to the arrest of three Japanese who invaded the United States' defense sector of the settlement. It protested the flights of Japanese planes which dropped propaganda leaflets from above the settlement.

Japanese air bombers yesterday raided Hankow, the inland temporary capital of China, and its sister cities, Wuchang and Hanyang. Two hundred bombs were dropped. It was estimated 100 persons were killed and 1,000 injured.

BRITAIN RETIRES 13 GENERALS TO PEP UP ITS ARMY

War Chief Seeks to Inject Staf with New Blood.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Leslie Hore-Belisha, British war secretary, put thirteen generals on the retired list today. The drastic shakeup was designed to jolt the British army into vigorous equality with the marching men of Europe's dictators.

The changes in the high command were announced in the Army Gazette as the newest step in Hore-Belisha's plan to inject young blood into the nation's land forces. Not since the world war has there been such a reorganization.

Retirement Ages Lowered.

Placed on the retired list because of age were three generals, four lieutenant generals, and six major generals. The move was a consequence of the secretary's announcement July 28 of a lower retirement age for all ranks above that of major.

Those retired were: Gens. Sir George Jeffreys, Sir Harry Knox, and Sir Hugh Elles; Lieut. Gens. Sir Harry Karslake, Sir Arthur McNamara, Sir Goeffrey Howard, and Sir Bertie Fisher, and Maj. Gens. E. O. Lewin, R. J. Collins, P. R. C. Commings, A. L. Ransome, H. A. Lewis, and G. T. Raikes.

Under the new retirement terms, retiring age for generals and lieutenant generals was reduced from 67 to 60, and for major generals from 62 to 57.

Retires as Full General.

Concurrently with his retirement, Sir Hugh Elles was promoted from lieutenant general to full general. He and Gen. Sir Harry Knox figured in the shakeup of the army council Dec. 2 when Hore-Belisha replaced them with younger officers.

Two lieutenant generals, Sir Walter Pitt-Taylor and Sir Reginald Hildyard, were raised to the rank of general in the new order, which followed the promotion of 2,000 younger officers Aug. 6.

Sue for $75,000 Damages Over 47th St. Underpass

Suit for $75,000 damages to private property allegedly caused by construction of the 47th street underpass under the Illinois Central tracks was filed in Circuit court yesterday. The suit was filed against the Chicago park district on behalf of Charles F. Grey and Newton F. Grey, trustees of property at 47th street and Lake Park avenue. They contend the property depreciated in value because park workers lowered the street and sidewalks three feet at the intersection.

The date for the dedication has not been set, pending word from President Roosevelt, who is expected to deliver the dedicatory address.

PREVENT WOMAN FROM JUMPING OFF 10TH FLOOR

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Thousands of persons jammed a downtown street for an hour and a half today to watch Noreen L. Macy, 24 years old, as she teetered on the tenth floor ledge of a hotel threatening to jump. She finally was pulled to safety by a fire chief and a business man who reached her when she was preoccupied.

"Look out below, I am going to jump," Mrs. Macy, wife of a taxicab driver, shouted a moment before the men grabbed her. Then she added: "I can't disappoint my public."

She had alternately dangled her legs over the edge of the shelf and toyed with a chair she threatened to dash on the crowd below. She refused entreaties of policemen, firemen, a Catholic priest and acquaintances. The woman gave no reason for her exhibition. After her rescue she was charged with intoxication, disorderly conduct, and disturbing the peace.

Pummels Stranger Guest Kicking Down His Door

Stephen B. Savage was aroused last night by hammering on the back door of his third floor apartment at 6342 South Ashland avenue. He found a stranger kicking at the panels. Savage opened the door and, using a pistol as a bludgeon, subdued his guest, who at Holy Cross hospital, said he was John Guedel, 22 years old, of 6533 Seeley avenue. Savage said he had never seen Guedel before. Police said Guedel had been drinking.

SPANISH PLANES INVADE FRANCE; DODGE GUNFIRE

Block Drive on Mercury Mines.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], Aug. 16.—(AP)—Spanish government troops and artillery were reported tonight to have blocked the rebel drive on the Almaden mercury mining center.

A sudden counterattack gave Gen. José Miaja's loyalist troops control of a mountain and railway tunnel about twenty miles west of Almaden. Government dispatches said 100 rebels were trapped inside the tunnel. They were killed by hand grenades when they refused to surrender.

LYONS DEMANDS NATION'S RETURN TO HORSE SENSE

Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate for United States senator, called for a return to a "horse sense" in the November elections at two massmeetings last night on Chicago's west side. Several thousand persons heard him speak at open air meetings at Pulaski road and North avenue and at Harlem and Grand avenues.

Lyons compared the wage paid WPA workers to that earned by Chinese coolies, only the coolie has more to spend per meal, he said.

"Only a mob of jackasses such as we have in Washington would bury 11 billion dollars' worth of gold in the ground at Fort Knox, Ky., when the money should be used to reopen mills and factories," he said. "The Republican party believes the $55 a month WPA worker should have a real job at $55 a week."

Lyons charged also that Gov. Horner had authorized pay raises of 25 cents an hour to state employés, and that the increase was being paid back in the form of campaign funds.

JURY COMPLETE, DEWEY TO BARE HINES CHARGES

Opening Statement Today in Racket Case.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 16.—[Special.]—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey will present his case against James J. [Jimmy] Hines to the jury tomorrow. In his opening statement he will marshal his charges that Hines, powerful Democratic leader, furnished protection for racketeers. A jury of twelve representative business men was completed late today. Two alternates also were chosen.

Dewey, in his opening statement, will outline his charges that the mushroom growth of the policy game racket in New York City was made possible through a corrupt alliance between officialdom and the underworld. Hines played a major rôle in the racket syndicate, according to Dewey's charges.

The Tammany hall boss will be tried on a thirteen count indictment accusing him of violating the lottery laws of the state. In the furtherance of this crime, Hines is charged with bribing, influencing, and intimidating judges and other officials.

Being Tried Alone.

Hines is 61 years old. He is a veteran of the political wars and head of the Roosevelt machine in New York county. He is being tried alone. Three other defendants have pleaded guilty, four are missing, and Martin Weintraub, a minor lawyer for the policy game runners, was granted a separate trial yesterday.

The three who pleaded guilty will testify against Hines. They all were associated in the ventures of the late Arthur [Dutch Schultz] Flegenheimer, gang chief. They are J. Richard [Dixie] Davis, attorney for Schultz, and Harry Schoenhaus and George Weinberg, Schultz lieutenants.

The last juror was agreed upon late in the afternoon. Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, who is presiding, admonished the twelve men against talking with any one and among themselves about the trial until all the evidence is heard.

Middle Aged Jury.

The men who will decide Hines' fate were for the most part middle aged. Four of them have gray hair. The foreman is Elliott R. Brown, a bond salesman with the firm of Green, Ellis & Anderson. He is 43 years old, a graduate of Blair academy and of Lafayette college, and a world war veteran who saw service overseas.

The other eleven are Don L. Caldwell, sales manager for an air-conditioning firm; Hugh C. Harle, stock broker; Fred D. Suydam, insurance broker; Walston B. Southwick, book publishing business; Ernest G. Hapgood, insurance salesman; Max S. Herrman, insurance salesman; Ross S. Anderson, civil engineer; Joehl M. Wachman, retired silk manufacturer; Edward Rose, civil engineer; Saul M. Dash, garage proprietor, and John J. Sheeran, accountant.

G-Man Shot, Suspect Slain in Memphis Street Battle

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 16—(AP)—Leo C. Nutty, 28 years old, a department of justice agent, was wounded and an unidentified man was killed in a downtown gun duel tonight. It was reported that police called federal agents after receiving a report a man resembling Floyd Hamilton, southwestern desperado, was seen getting out of an automobile. The agents located the parked automobile. While they were inspecting it a heavy set man walked up. "This has gone far enough," he said, and opened fire. The fire was returned and the man fell mortally wounded.

$9,000,000 Estate Left by Her Husband.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Ann Dodge, Cinderella widow of Daniel G. Dodge, who drowned yesterday in Georgian Bay, Ont., after a series of tragic mishaps, will share in a $9,000,000 estate left by her husband. Just how much money the former $15 a week telephone operator will receive was a matter of speculation.

Charles P. Spicer, executive vice president of the Detroit Trust company, today said Dodge's estate consisted of an accumulated income from a trust fund. Dodge was given a life interest in the fund following the death of his father, John F. Dodge, who with his brother, Horace Dodge, founded the Dodge Automobile company.

Named Bride as Beneficiary.

The trust company official said Daniel Dodge left a will in which he named his bride, the former Ann Laurine MacDonald, as beneficiary. The will gives the widow, who is 19 years old, a share in the estate.

"The will, however, does not entitle Mrs. Dodge to any further share in the estate of her husband's father," Spicer said.

Sisters to Share Income.

"Under the John Dodge will the income from the trust fund established for Daniel will now be divided among his three sisters, Frances Dodge, Mrs. Wesson Seyburn, and Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan, who also are receiving incomes set aside for them from the John Dodge estate."

Young Dodge's widow is the daughter of a tugboat captain. Dodge met her in 1936 while he was building a cabin near Gore Island, Ont. They were married two weeks ago in Rochester, Mich. After the wedding the couple left for Manitoulin Island on their honeymoon.

Tells Story of Explosion.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont., Aug. 16.—Curiosity over sticks of dynamite he had found cost the life of Daniel G. Dodge.

This was disclosed today by an injured worker at Dodge's honeymoon camp, twenty miles west of here. He said he lit the dynamite fuse at the direction of the heir, who was 21 years old. The explosion shattered Dodge's arm and fractured his skull.

The millionaire, crazed by pain, drowned last night when he fell or plunged into Georgian bay while being rushed here by motorboat for medical treatment.

He said the explosion did not come from the dynamite stick he and Dodge intended to explode and which they had fitted with a 14 inch fuse. He declared it came from other sticks lying on the window of the Dodge garage. He said they were set off by sparks from the sputtering fuse as Dodge pivoted to hurl the stick out of the garage.

LOVE'S TORTURE MAKES A JEWEL THIEF CONFESS

Admits $10,000 Job to Aid Wife in Prison.

"What Is This Thing Called Love?" is the title of a song that was going the rounds in 1934 when Charles Carroll Terry escaped from the McHenry county jail. Maybe he can give the answer now. Yesterday he confessed a $10,000 jewel theft. He confessed, he said, for love.

In 1934 Terry was chauffeur for John L. Barrett, retired International Harvester company official. Terry was 54 years old. His wife, Emma, was 35. She was a maid in the Barrett summer home at Crystal Lake.

It seemed nice to have such a devoted couple around the place. They stayed with their jobs only ten days. Then they left with $10,000 worth of the Barrett jewelry.

Restless Terry Breaks Jail.

Two months later they were seized in Oregon City, Ore. They were brought back and charged with grand larceny. Still restless, Terry didn't stay long in the McHenry jail at Woodstock. When he left he took four other prisoners along.

"My wife refused to go," Terry said yesterday. "She was afraid."

Through intermediaries Terry offered to return to jail a few weeks later. He set up one condition—that Emma be released. The then state's attorney, V. S. Lumley, refused. It was the last he heard from Terry.

Mrs. Terry was convicted. She is in the women's prison at Dwight, Ill., serving a one to ten year sentence.

"In all these four years I haven't written to her," Terry said. "I was afraid it would mean my arrest and trouble for her."

Magazine Fake Traps Him.

Terry landed in Milwaukee a month ago. He remained there selling fictitious subscriptions to a magazine for $1. Policemen John McCarthy and Elmer Dennis arrested him Monday.

Yesterday morning he blurted out that he was wanted for the Crystal Lake jewel theft.

"At least I'll be able to write to her now," Terry said. "I love her. Maybe they'll let her out if I take the blame."

CHARGES UNION TIEUP IN MUSIC MACHINE RACKET

Courtney Acts on Protest of Makers.

State's Attorney Courtney said yesterday he will stop what he termed a racket in the electrical music machine industry in Chicago. He asserted that a joint agreement between Local 920 of the Electrical Workers' union and an association of electrical phonograph operators discriminates as to what make of machine the union may service.

This announcement followed a conference with seven manufacturers of automatic music machines and their attorneys. The manufacturers had complained that the union will service only the machines operated by members of the International Association of Automatic Electric Phonograph Owners, the headquarters of which are at 201 North Wells street.

Heads Association and Company.

The temporary head of the association is E. E. Rohlman, who also heads a manufacturing concern known as the Automatic Musical Instrument company of Grand Rapids. The company's headquarters in Chicago also are at 201 North Wells street.

The state's attorney's investigation followed complaints by competing manufacturers and fifteen tavern owners. The tavern men said their places had been picketed because their machines were serviced by nonunion workers after the electrical local had refused.

Charges Virtual Monopoly.

Courtney said his investigation had shown there is a virtual monopoly of the business in Chicago as the result of the tieup between the association and the union. Dues to the association are set at $1 a month per machine. He said that if all operators in Chicago joined, the association would get $100,000 a year from this city alone. He said Rohlman and William Cleary, head of the electrical local, will be told they must cease the practice.

Rohlman asserted after the conference that his manufacturing company is 20 years old, that it holds basic patents, and that his machines are put in amusement spots on a partnership basis. He did not attend the meeting.

Tells of Union Troubles.

He said he operates in 1,200 cities. Soon after he started he began having difficulty with various unions. In California five unions claimed jurisdiction, he said. Accordingly he went to American Federation of Labor headquarters in Washington, where jurisdiction was awarded to the electrical workers.

Rohlman said his association was organized solely to deal with the union. He said any operator of an electrical music machine may join. He said his manufacturing company has about 8,000 or 9,000 machines of 200,000 that are in operation throughout the country and has about 850 out of 7,000 in Chicago. On the other hand, he said that about 65 per cent of the machines operating in the city are represented in the association. Practically all of the machines are electric phonographs.

SEEK AGREEMENT TODAY TO START N. SHORE TRAINS

Unions Asked to Shelve Jurisdictional Fight.

Representatives of the North Shore Electric line and its 1,300 striking employés will meet this morning with a federal labor conciliator in an effort to settle their differences.

The strike, called to protest a 15 per cent wage cut, stopped all service on the line between Chicago and Milwaukee at 4:01 a. m. yesterday. It forced more than 10,000 north shore commuters to seek other means for reaching their jobs.

In the interest of a speedy and peaceful solution of the dispute, rival unions agreed to shelve their internal differences which for a time threatened to block negotiations. Four craft unions and a vertical [including all types of workers] union seek collective bargaining rights for the railroad employés.

Hopeful of Agreement.

"A settlement can be reached," declared Harry E. Scheck, conciliator for the federal department of labor. "The differences are not insurmountable. The various union officials have assured me they will not let any internal dispute stand in the way of an agreement."

Scheck will meet with B. J. Fallon, operating head of the North Shore line, and O. David Zimring, attorney and statistician for the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employés of America [the vertical union].

Members of division 900 of this union, which embraces the North Shore employés, called the strike. They voted not to work without a contract and unless the company submitted the pay cut question to arbitration.

Contract Is Canceled.

For nineteen years this union has operated under contract with the company. On May 31 the last contract expired. Pending negotiations for a new one, it was continued on a 30 day cancellation basis.

Col. A. A. Sprague, federal receiver of the company since 1932, invoked the cancellation clause on July 15 when employés refused to accept a reduction in pay. His order received the approval of Federal Judge William M. Sparks.

The company contended it did not have sufficient cash on hand or expected revenue to pay the present wage scale. The company agreed to restore the deduction should business improve.

Union Wants Arbitration.

"The company has never said the men were getting more than they should," said Scheck. "It insists it will pay them as much as it possibly can from the revenue. The union's position is that this question should be put to arbitration as all such questions have been handled in the past."

The other unions involved in the dispute are the Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen and Enginemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, and the International Association of Machinists.

Like the Amalgamated, the latter two are units of the American Federation of Labor. The brotherhoods are members of the "Big Five" independent railway unions.

In recent months these four craft unions began organizing employés of the electric line. They contended that many of the employés performed work which fell in the classification of steam railroad employés.

Membership Drive Started.

The four craft unions claim a membership of nearly 500 North Shore Line workers, or about 90 per cent of the workers in their respective crafts. The Amalgamated officials say about 90 per cent of all the employés belong to the vertical union. Many are members of both the Amalgamated and a craft union.

After the Amalgamated contract expired on May 31, the craft unions started an intensive drive for workers. They also opened negotiations with the National Labor Relations board for recognition. Leonard Bajork, regional director of the NLRB, has set Monday for a hearing on the craft union petitions. The issue is whether the craft unions should represent their own members, or whether the Amalgamated should bargain collectively for all union employés.

Officials of the trainmen's brotherhood expressed disapproval yesterday of tactics used by officials of the Amalgamated at a meeting in the Waukegan Labor hall. The 400 workers present were asked to sign up with Amalgamated. About half walked out. The brotherhood men said that such membership drives should be delayed during the strike which all the employés were supporting.

No Attempt to Operate.

Members of the Amalgamated last night agreed to let six of their bus drivers operate leased buses tomorrow in the Waukegan-North Chicago area. This was at the request of chamber of commerce officials who explained that Waukegan expected a large trade for dollar day tomorrow.

The loss of trafic to the North Shore was the gain of several other carriers yesterday. In addition to commuters who resorted to their own automobiles, hundreds of others used parallel lines of the North Western and the Milwaukee railroads and the Greyhound bus company.

Company officials said they would make no attempt to operate any part of their system during the strike. This includes several bus routes and a street car system in Milwaukee. Union leaders said there would be no picketing unless service was resumed.

The affiliated unions of the surface and elevated lines promised the strikers full financial and economic coöperation.

SEIZE 2 FELONS IN MINNESOTA ON KIDNAP CHARGES

Abductors of St. Louis Pair Trapped.

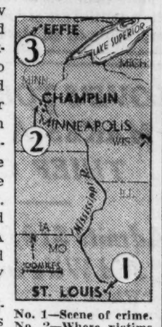
St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Charges of kidnaping under the Lindbergh law today were placed against two ex-convicts who were captured last night near Effie in north central Minnesota. They are charged with the abduction of a St. Louis girl and her escort. A prosecutor said the death penalty will be asked.

One of the kidnapers, Otis James Meredith, 21 years old, was wounded seriously when he tried to evade arrest. He was shot twice in his back when he ran as federal agents and local officers surprised him at the home of his father-in-law, Charles Root.



No. 1—Scene of crime. No. 2—Where victims were found. No. 3—Where kidnapers were caught.

Meredith's companion, John Couch, 23 years old, stood still while federal men clamped handcuffs on him. Both of the abductors were armed at the time, but made no effort to use their weapons.

One Taken to Hospital.

Meredith was taken to a hospital in Grand Rapids, forty-five miles south of the scene of the capture. Couch was placed under guard in the Grand Rapids jail.

Both men admitted kidnaping Miss Peggy Gross, 23 years old, prominent in St. Louis society, and Daniel Cox Fahey Jr., architect at St. Louis for the national park service.

District Attorney Victor Anderson said in all probability he will demand the death penalty for the two ex-convicts. The law provides execution as a maximum punishment when kidnaping victims are harmed. The couple was bound with wire and Fahey said he was struck in the face with a gun butt.

Fahey and Miss Gross were sitting in Fahey's car in St. Louis early Saturday when the ex-convicts held them up. The gunmen wanted the car to flee the St. Louis area where they were being sought by police.

Bound and Left in Woods.

Taking their victims with them, the fugitives drove to a point near Champlin, Minn. There Saturday night they wired the hands and feet of the girl and her escort, gagged them with handkerchiefs, and tossed them into a woods. They were left about 100 feet from the road.

About 10:30 p. m. Saturday a passerby discovered the victims and released them. The couple reported their experience to police and provided the clew that trapped the kidnapers.

Couch was released from the Missouri state penitentiary on June 9. Meredith, under the name of Otis Seller, was paroled from the same institution several years ago.

REST IN CHICAGO.

Miss Gross and Fahey arrived in Chicago early yesterday morning by automobile. She slept a couple of hours in the apartment of Mrs. Rene G. Le Brosi in the Parkway hotel, and departed with Mr. Fahey on an American Airlines plane for St. Louis at 8:40 o'clock. "About an hour after she left we were notified that two men had been arrested as the kidnapers," said Mrs. Le Brosi.

HOPKINS SHIELDS SELF FROM QUIZ BY HIS OWN EDICT

Gag Order Blocks Expose of Graft or Coercion.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Harry Hopkins, boss of the largest bloc of Democratic voters as administrator of the Works Progress administration, has endeavored to make himself secure against court investigation of politics or graft in WPA by means of an official order.

The order was issued as long ago as June 2, 1936, when the WPA was under fire for political activity in the last presidential campaign. It instructed all WPA employés not to testify in state courts or produce official records in state courts on the ground that federal officers are not subject to state jurisdiction.

"No officer or employé of the Works Progress administration shall furnish any information or make available any official document or paper, or copy thereof, to any person, except persons having official business with the Works Progress administration," the order said.

Must Decline to Answer.

"In all cases where a Works Progress administration officer or employé is requested to testify in regard to matters of an official or confidential character, knowledge of which was acquired in his official capacity, he shall respectfully decline to answer.

"If his reasons are requested by the court, he shall courteously state that the matter is privileged and cannot be disclosed without specific approval from the federal administrator."

Under this rule WPA officers and employés are precluded from testifying in any state investigation of political activity on the part of WPA workers or political coercion of WPA workers unless Hopkins loosens the gag.

The case grew out of a tangle of politics and gambling. A county grand jury headed by Carl Thoner, a WPA photographer, began a gambling cleanup in Tampa after the killing last March 9 of Evaristo Rubio, a Cuban night club operator at Tampa.

High Officials Indicted.

Headed by Thoner, the jury obtained search warants, descended upon gambling resorts and seized evidence, including I. O. U.'s signed by leading Tampa citizens. The jury indicted 16 men, among them Sherif J. B. McLeod, who had been district WPA administrator; County Prosecutor J. E. Williams and Chief of Police C. J. Woodruff. They were charged with ignoring wide open gambling during their tenure of office.

A few days later Thoner received notice from J. D. Brochio, Tampa WPA administrator, that Thoner had been dismissed from the WPA rolls. The dismissal followed telephoned orders from R. J. Dill, state WPA administrator. Thoner was reinstated within a few hours after he was discharged.

A new grand jury began an investigation of Thoner's discharge when it developed that the day Thoner was thrown out, Sherif McLeod, Gov. Fred P. Cone and Administrator Dill had held a conference in Miami. The jury attempted to determine whether Sherif McLeod had attempted to get Thoner thrown out of his job in retaliation for his aggressiveness as foreman of the grand jury.

Hopkins Provides Counsel.

Dill was summoned as a witness. The state administrator refused to tell what took place at the conference with the governor and the sherif on the ground that his lips were sealed by Washington.

Hopkins, who was notified of the case, refused to unseal Dill's lips and was instrumental in having his state administrator represented in the state court by United States District Attorney Herbert S. Phillips when the administrator was cited for contempt.

Phillips told the court that the burocratic order was issued for the purpose of preserving the sovereignty of the United States, so that "grand juries and state agencies can't go on fishing trips for political or other purposes." The Phillips argument was upheld.

Judge Forces Hopkins' Hand.

In a Nebraska case the WPA did not fare so well. In a federal grand jury investigation of governmental extravagance, a number of WPA officials and workers, who had been subpenaed, stood mute. They, too, cited the Hopkins order.

When their silence was brought to the attention of Federal District Judge James Fitzgerald, there was immediate action. The judge demanded to know who the workers thought they were, and who was dictating what could and what could not be given to the federal processes of justice.

The judge's vigorous challenge led Hopkins regretfully to remove the gag from the mouths of the WPA workers and officals.

Fair Champions

Jean Little of Hebron, Ind., with grand champion Chester White barrow and last year's grand champion Duroc Jersey boar at the Lake county fair, Crown Point, Ind.

The 78th annual Great Lakes county fair opened yesterday at the Crown Point, Ind., fairgrounds. A small crowd ignored threatening weather and inspected more than 5,000 entries of livestock, farm produce, flowers, and other attractions. Fair officials asserted that they expect this year's crowds to exceed the 35,000 who attended a year ago. The fair will run through Sunday.

Yesterday was American Legion day. Competitions were held last evening for drum and bugle corps from Lake county, Ind., posts. Other events yesterday were pony races, trotting races and the five-eighths of a mile running race.

Entries were drawn from many northern Indiana and several Illinois counties. Jocko, show horse owned by Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion, drew much attention yesterday. Louis is expected to visit the fair Thursday.

WPA A BREEDING GROUND FOR REDS, SAYS JOHN FREY

Labor Leader Tells Peril in Workers' Alliance.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—The WPA and the labor department came under fire before a house committee today as having favored communists. The committee was informed that the Workers' alliance, an organization of WPA workers, is controled by the communist party.

Frances Perkins.

Later on the committee voted to make an immediate inquiry into charges that the department of labor, headed by Secretary Frances Perkins, protected Harry Bridges, west coast C. I. O. leader and an alien communist, from deportation.

Bore Into Democratic Party.

Congressman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] said the committee had agreed to go thoroughly into the charges and to call on the labor department to submit all its files on Bridges. Secretary Perkins delayed showing her files on Bridges to the senate labor and commerce committee last winter. When the records finally were produced senators said part of Bridges' record had been removed.

Names Reds in WPA.

John P. Frey, A. F. of L. metal trades president, made the charges against the Workers' alliance, which for several years has been busy organizing the unemployed who are placed on Harry Hopkins' WPA projects. Frey put into the record a list of twenty-seven known communists who direct activities of the organization.

"The Workers' alliance is one of the most dangerous organizations affiliated with the communist party," declared Representative J. P. Thomas [R., N. J.], member of the committee. "You'll find when the federal theater project comes before us that the alliance has an active part in it."

This remark strengthened the impression among observers at the hearings that the committee has been investigating communistic inclinations among government officials. Representative Noah Mason [R., Ill.] said such an inquiry had been made.

Frey yesterday revealed that leaders of the communist party decided a year ago to concentrate upon gaining control of the Democratic party because of its increasing radical trend under President Roosevelt's leadership.

After Frey had completed his testimony today he disclosed that Homer Martin, president of the C. I. O. automobile workers recently split by charges of communism within its ranks, is coming to Washington to testify.

John L. Lewis, chairman, is expected to appear before the committee and answer Frey's charges that the C. I. O. is controled by communists.

Walter S. Steele, chairman of the American Coalition Committee on National Security, composed of 114 patriotic organizations with 20 million members, followed Frey on the stand.

Seek Support of Aliens.

"The un-American forces in the United States have attained a membership and direction of over 6½ millions," he said. "The emphasis in the drive at present is to win the following and allegiance of the 20 million alien born within our country. Ten million dollars is expended for this activity yearly.

"While denouncing what they term the capitalist controled press, the communists have the largest monopolized press in the world.

"Over 25 million pieces of propaganda have been used in the United States in the last two years by the communists and their mass movements."

While there are only 75,000 paying mmebers of the communist party, these are only a fraction of the communist force here, Steele said.

WPA JOBS ARE LOST BY 900 STRIKERS IN RANDOLPH COUNTY, ILL.

Sparta, Ill., Aug. 16.—(AP)—All WPA projects in Randolph county were stopped today and dismissal slips were given to the 900 workers, most of whom have been on strike for eleven days.

Fred G. Austin, district WPA director, said in East St. Louis that the work might be resumed if the strikers agree to return to their jobs. "If they don't go back soon, the funds will be withdrawn and alloted elsewhere," he added.

The strikers demanded free transportation to and from their jobs, compensation for time spent en route, an increase in pay from $40 to $55 and a guarantee of nondiscrimination against strikers.

Post Graduate Hospital Receivership Is Sought

A petition asking that a receiver be appointed for the Post Graduate hospital and Medical school, 2400 Dearborn street, was filed in the Circuit court yesterday on behalf of the Consolidated Dental laboratories, 30 North Michigan avenue. The petition filed by Attorney Arthur S. Kaplan states that the hospital admits being unable to pay $489.03 owed the laboratories for merchandise bought during this year and last.

DIES OF HEART AILMENT.

Robert Nash, 50 years old, an accountant for the Westward Ho Golf club, died yesterday in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, from a heart ailment. He lived at the club.

NEIGHBORS APPLAUD AS JOBLESS MACHINIST TURNS 'LAUNDRESS'

Milwaukee. Wis., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Neighbor's respect for Clyde Zibell has grown since Mrs. Zibell went to a hospital to bear their second child. The respect was increased by his determination to keep off the relief and WPA rolls despite loss of his job at a time of greatest need.

Zibell is supporting his increased family with money earned by doing his neighbors' laundry. When his wife went to a hospital he thought of her idle washing machine and went out to get business. Now he hardly can keep up with the demand.

Zibell learned to wash and iron when a boy on the farm. He is a machinist and expects to be called back to work in a few weeks. Besides doing the neighborhood wash he also is caring for their daughter, 4 years old.

Held to Grand Jury for Attempted Police Holdup

Stanley Platt, who tried to hold up a policeman and his young woman companion on Aug. 6, was held yesterday to the grand jury in $75,000 bonds by Judge Michael Kasper. Platt, who was shot twice by the policeman, Henry Decker, waived examination on two charges of robbery and one of attempted robbery.

PRESIDENT FIRES PURGE BROADSIDE AT SEN. TYDINGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today renewed his attempted purge of the Democratic party by making a direct attack on Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland and Representative John J. O'Connor of New York, chairman of the rules committee of the house of representatives. In a statement read at the White House press conference, the President publicly repudiated both Senator Tydings and Mr. O'Connor as betrayers of the Roosevelt policies.

Last week Mr. Roosevelt for the first time undertook to read a Democrat out of the senate and out of his party when he denounced Senator Walter F. George at Barnesville, Ga., as a reactionary. The President told the voters he wanted Lawrence Camp, who is running against Senator George, elected to the senate.

White House Loads the Guns.

Today's attack on O'Connor had been expected. It had been planned for several days. The question intended to elicit the presidential excoriation had been planted by the White House. Newspaper reporters were surprised, however, by the blast against Senator Tydings, as all reports had indicated that the President would go into Maryland for his assault upon the senator.

Last night in his nation-wide radio address on the third anniversary of the social security act, the President indorsed by name Representative David J. Lewis, who is running as a 100 per cent Roosevelt follower in an effort to get the nomination for Tydings' seat in the senate.

As a device to accomplish his repudiation of Senator Tydings and Representative O'Connor, the President adopted as his own statement and read to the newspaper correspondents an editorial from the zealously pro-Roosevelt Philadelphia Record and New York Evening Post, published by David Stern.

Text of Editorial.

The editorial, mimeographed on White House stationery, was headed: "Why the President Interferes."

"The President of the United States ought not to interfere in party primaries," the editorial began. "That statement, in one form or another, is appearing these days throughout the Tory press."

The editorial went on to say that the President could keep his campaign promises only with a congress which would support him, and that the outcome of the Democratic primaries would determine in a large measure the makeup of the next congress. It said the President faced a "hidden opposition" consisting of men who gave lip service to him during the 1936 campaign and then knifed him in congress.

The same hidden opposition, after giving the New Deal lip service in 1936, turned around and knifed it in congress in 1937 and 1938.

"Nothing Else to Do."

"In those circumstances there is nothing for the President to do—as the responsible head of the New Deal—but to publicly repudiate those who have betrayed the New Deal in the past and will again," it contended.

"If men like Senator Tydings of Maryland said frankly 'I no longer believe in the platform of the Democratic party as expressed in the New Deal, I'm running for reëlection as a member of the Republican opposition to the New Deal,' then there would be no reason and no excuse for President Roosevelt to intervene against them.

"The issue would be clear. The voter could take his choice between the New Deal and Tydings' record of consistent opposition to it. But Tydings tells the voters he supports the 'bone and sinew' of the New Deal. He wants to run with the Roosevelt prestige and the money of his conservative Republican friends both on his side.

"In that case it becomes the President's right and duty to tell the people what he thinks of Millard Tydings."

Reasons for Purge Order.

Senator Tydings was one of the nine Democratic senators up for reëlection this year who were marked for political slaughter by the White House purge committee because of their opposition to the court packing bill. However, he has opposed many other administration measures.

Representative O'Connor's rules committee twice bottled up the administration wage and hour bill, forcing the house leadership to resort to the cumbersome petition method to discharge the committee and bring the measure to a vote in the house. O'Connor, however, supported the wage and hour legislation from its inception, both in committee and on the floor of the house.

Charges TVA Fraud

Edwin C. Eckel, TVA geologist, who testified at hearing in Knoxville, Tenn., that "my idea was that we were being blackmailed." He referred to Senator Berry and associates in buying mineral and marble leases in the TVA Norris dam area. He added: "The whole thing has the earmarks of a holdup."

own more interest than him even if only in a doghouse," Berry said.

The senator denied he had suggested the conciliation agreement between the TVA and his interests. This agreement was made July 10, 1936, and thrown overboard March 31, 1937, when the condemnation proceedings were started. Berry said he entered into the conciliation agreement in good faith and he regarded it as a "decent effort to compose differences." He said it also was "an acknowledgment of the existence of value" in the marble claims. The conciliation agreement was violently opposed by Dr. Morgan.

Denies Knowing Findings.

Berry said he did not know groups of geologists had made reports to TVA saying the claims had no commercial value.

The senator asserted he did not remember signing powers of attorney that gave him and Harris authority to prosecute damage claims against the government on behalf of landowners.

Committee Counsel Francis Biddle commented: "I understand your position in obtaining these leases was not for claims on the government."

"So far as I am concerned," Berry replied, "definitly no."

He denied emphatically he told any one he could get a settlement of his claims against the TVA.

"Did you ever consider suing the authority?" Biddle asked.

"No," the senator said. "There were a number of reasons why. TVA is a great project and I have been for it for twenty-five years. For my part I didn't want a lawsuit."

Hits Back at Eckel.

Berry accused Maj. E. C. Eckel, chief TVA geologist, of the "most amazing piece of effrontery ever perpetrated by a man on the federal pay roll." Eckel, in a memo, had asked that the President be told about the Berry claims and the use of Berry marbles in certain federal buildings. He had characterized the Berry claims as "blackmail."

Berry said Eckel had shown that a boycott existed against marbles from the Berry quarries.

Berry charged TVA has violated the United States constitution and TVA act in conducting its case against the marble claims.

Ford, the witness who preceded Berry, told the committee that George Collins of Frankfort, Ky., an associate of the senator in the purchase of marble and mineral leases, predicted in 1935 that Berry would soon settle his claims against the TVA because Dr. Morgan "would soon be out."

Ford said he wrote to Dr. Morgan last spring asking him whether he would be interested in information on the marble leases. Ford then went to Dayton, O., he said, and gave a sworn statement to F. X. Reynolds, Dr. Morgan's secretary. This affidavit, dated May 16, 1938, was read to the committee by Biddle.

"Col. George Collins of Frankfort, Ky., became interested in the mineral leases," the affidavit said. "I went to Frankfort, Ky., to see Collins July 5, 1935. I wanted to know about my interest in the leases and how the settlement arrangements were going.

Looked to Lilienthal.

"He told me he thought there would be a settlement with the Tennessee Valley authority very soon, that Arthur E. Morgan would soon be out and that Berry would handle Lilienthal, and Lilienthal would handle Harcourt A. Morgan [a TVA director], as the latter did not know what it was all about, anyway.

"I talked to Collins again about a settlement Oct. 4, 1936, at his home in Frankfort, Ky.

"At that time he said Berry could make a settlement then but that he [Collins] would not let him because it would ruin Maj. Berry and also the President just before the election.

"He said further that after the election Arthur E. Morgan would be out and that there would then be no trouble in handling the settlement."

The time of that alleged conversation was only a month before the presidential election of 1936. Berry, not yet a senator then, was head of labor's Nonpartisan league, which he helped John Lewis of the C. I. O. to organize to line up the labor vote for the Roosevelt ticket.

BERRY MARBLE USED IN CERMAK PUMPING STATION

Interior marble for the Cermak pumping station, 735 Harrison street, was purchased from the company of Senator George L. Berry [D., Tenn.] and his associates, whose claims against the TVA are being investigated by a congressional committee. The George Anderson Marble works, 608 East 40th street, had an $8,900 contract from the city for supplying and installing it.

Construction of the $1,250,000 station was financed by a loan from the federal government but all the work was done under the direction of Chicago officials. Construction was started in 1934 at about the time the marble was going into new United States government structures. Specifications drawn by City Architect Paul Gerhardt Jr. called for five types of marble including brocatelle and tavernelle, trade names of Maj. Berry's company.

"It was a coincidence," Gerhardt asserted yesterday. "I chose certain types of marble to conform to what I had in mind for the color scheme of the interior. I didn't know where the marble was coming from and I hadn't heard of Senator Berry or his claims."

WE ARE EDUCATED

By CALEB

WE MIGHT define the establishment and operation of our College Bureau as an experiment in education, for it is precisely that. But there might be some misunderstanding about who it is that is being educated. The answer is quick and simple—for it is ourselves.

When the project began years ago, we fell into the common adult error of assuming that it was we who would do the educating—would tell the youngsters what they ought to wear, how and when. But since then we have learned a good deal. In fact, we think we're well on the road to upper classmanship, and this is why:

As soon as we discovered that college people, and particularly the girls, had pretty definite ideas about what they wanted, we naturally tried to find out precisely what those ideas encompassed from year to year. It was a discouraging task, because at first it was quite out of the question to get an adequate cross section of opinions and needs that would let our buyers go to wholesale markets and choose goods so characteristic and essential that they would fill an unquestioned need.

We tried committees and many another device—but still found the opinions we got were not based on an extensive enough background of research and observation. And that very situation suggested the solution: we decided to engineer a college survey of our own!

It was begun forthwith, and our representatives spent months of actual visiting, questioning, interviewing and sketching on college campuses. They covered the Big Ten and many other mid-western schools, some co-educational and others exclusively for women. They went to Eastern colleges and universities until their reports and observations began to pile up in offices here with amazing bulk.

Next came weeks of tabulation, analysis and discussion, with the result that buyers for our College Bureau went to their markets armed with authentic, first hand information.

This week the 1938 version of our College Bureau was launched and today we breathe more easily—because all our cramming and lab work proved to be right; we passed our entrance exams. Another experiment in education—our education—has clicked.

WAGE AND HOUR DICTATOR TAKES OATH OF OFFICE

Law Governing 4 Million Takes Effect Oct. 24.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Elmer F. Andrews took his oath of office today as the first administrator of the new wage and hour law.

The oath was administered by Samuel Gompers Jr., chief clerk of the labor department, who concluded: "May the Lord have mercy on your soul." Then Andrews made his inaugural address.

"I understand," Andrews said, "that the movie industry is upset for fear such actresses as Myrna Loy will be affected. That's ridiculous. Actors are professional people."

The new law was designed by the Roosevelt administration to supplant the defunct national recovery act, killed by a Supreme court decision.

Provisions of Measure.

The bill establishes a nation-wide minimum of 25 cents an hour for the first year, but with the provision that the industrial boards can recommend minimum wages in excess of this figure for the first year but cannot recommend a lower wage.

The minimum the second year is to be 30 cents per hour, and in excess of 30 cents thereafter, rising gradually toward a goal of 40 cents by the end of seven years. An administrator in the department of labor may make exceptions to the 40 cent rate at the end of seven years if evidence shows it is not economically feasible.

Maximum hours will be forty-four per week the first year, forty-two hours per week the second year, and forty hours per week thereafter.

Approximately 4,000,000 workers will be affected either by the wage or the hour provision when the law becomes effective on Oct. 24.

Predicts Benefits for All.

The first industries to be dealt with will be textiles, cotton garments, and tobacco, Andrews said. He revealed that he already has selected the chairman of a textile industry board. He declined to disclose the appointee's name but identified him as a large textile customer who would be acceptable to both industry and labor. He said he expected to name the textile committee within a week.

Andrews was New York state industrial commissioner prior to accepting the new appointment. He praised business men today for their coöperation and pledged himself to administer the law impartially.

POSTAL WORKERS, NOT CITIZENS, TO GET JOBS BACK

For five men in Chicago this will be one of the happiest surprises of their life:

Postal employés who lost their jobs last month because they were wrong in their belief that they were United States citizens are to be reinstated. This information was received yesterday by Fred J. Schlotfeldt, district director of immigration and naturalization. If the employés can show they performed their citizens' duties before 1920, and thought they were citizens, they will be given citizenship papers in October upon application. Then they may return to their jobs.

Told to Get Job

MRS. PEARL RICE.

Childless wives can't expect to get support in this court during the summer emergency session, Judge Peter M. Schwaba said yesterday. Mrs. Pearl Rice, 25 years old, wanted a court order for support payments while her divorce suit is pending.

"Are there any children?" the court asked.

"No," replied her attorney, Victor Frohlich.

"Are there going to be any?" the court pursued.

Attorney Frohlich whispered to his client, then answered again in the negative.

"Let your client go out and work until the regular session of court," Judge Schwaba said. "Where no children are involved it's not an emergency."

Mrs. Rice charged her husband, Clyde, slapped her many times during their six months of marriage. In January he returned to his parents' farm at Oglesby, Ill. She lives at 5459 South Marshfield avenue.

BOTH POLITICAL PARTIES FOCUS ON STATE FAIR

Lyons Is Headliner on G. O. P. Day.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—The state fair grounds becomes the magnet for Illinois politicians during the next 48 hours. Republicans hold their ceremonies tomorrow. The Democrats take possession on Thursday.

As the G. O. P. advance guard arrived tonight, State Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield predicted that the turnout tomorrow would be of record size. He based this on the fact that the 50,000 tickets given him for distribution to party workers and enthusiasts proved too few. So he requested and received an additional 20,000.

Lyons Is Headliner.

The Republican headliner will be State Representative Richard J. Lyons, senatorial nominee. Lyons has been on the stump downstate for two months in one of the most vigorous campaigns in recent years. With Lyons will be his five running mates on the state ticket. All of them will speak but Lyons will have top place. He is reported to have some hot shots in store for his Democratic opponent, Congressman Scott W. Lucas.

After the formal program, which will conclude by early afternoon, the candidates will leave the platform for Republican headquarters nearby. There they will hold a reception during the remainder of the day. Senator Searcy and Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago are co-chairmen of the Republican day committee. A. K. Stiles, state chairman, will be master of ceremonies.

Lyons' running mates are William R. McCauley for state treasurer; Simon E. Lantz and Stephen A. Day, for congressmen at large; George E. Lambur Jr. for Supreme court clerk, and Wiley B. Garvin for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Mayor to Attend Tomorrow.

A semblance, at least, of harmony will feature Governor's day on Thursday. This will be brought about by the attendance of Mayor Kelly of Chicago, who has a place among the speakers. It will be his first appearance at a rally designed for the glorification of Gov. Horner since the April primaries. The mayor is due to arrive tomorrow evening.

The program for Thursday will be in charge of Harry B. Hershey, Democratic state chairman, who will be introduced by F. Lynden Smith, Horner's public works director. Hershey will present Congressman Lucas and the other state candidates, the governor, Mayor Kelly and Senator James Hamilton Lewis, the senator and the governor will share the speaking limelight.

With Congressman Lucas will be Louie E. Lewis for state treasurer; T. V. Smith and John C. Martin for congressman at large; Adam F. Bloch for Supreme court clerk, and John Wieland for superintendent of public instruction.

U. S. BANKRUPTCY TRUSTEE UNABLE TO RAISE BOND

William S. Welch, a Joliet bankruptcy trustee, was held to the federal grand jury yesterday on a charge of embezzlement by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. Unable to furnish $10,000 bond, Welch was returned to the county jail.

He is charged with embezzling $3,500 from the Henneberry Motor Sales company of Joliet, of which he was trustee. Thomas B. Hart and Roy D. Keehn Jr., assistant United States attorneys, say they have found shortages in his trusteeship accounts aggregating $12,000.

JEANETTE TODD, WILLIAM NEVINS WINNING SINGERS

First in County Division of Festival Contests.

Festival Tickets!

Reserved seats for the Chicagoland Music Festival are now on sale at 50 cents and $1 each. They may be obtained by mail [make check or money order payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.] or by calling at the Chicago Tribune public service bureaus at 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune Tower lobby.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

A girl who was versatile enough to discard the number she was prepared to sing for one she hardly knew won the south side contest for the Chicagoland Music festival. Last night at the Drake hotel she sang both numbers and was adjudged the best woman singer in Cook county.

Jeanette Todd is her name. She is a contralto. And she is good. She was so good that the audience which crowded the hotel's grand ballroom violated the rules of the festival contest by applauding.

Changes Her Number.

For weeks prior to Aug. 11 Miss Todd rehersed the beautiful "Voce di Donna" from Ponchielli's opera "La Gioconda." It was to be her bid for a place in the finals of the festival on Aug. 20. But shortly before the finals of the south side elimination contest on Aug. 11 she found she had a cold and could not reach the high note in the aria.

Undaunted she immediately discarded the aria and substituted Protheroe's "Ah, Love but a Day." And she went right on and won first place. Miss Todd lives at 2125 West 54th place.

Last night she was under no handicap and called upon her aria to help her within one step of the city's highest honors for amateur singers. Effortlessly she reached the heights which give the song its charm.

Miss Todd was not without a rival. Miss Rosemary Enright, daughter of James J. Enright, a battalion chief of the fire department, pressed her closely for the highest honors of the evening. She lives at 8129 South Paulina street.

Nevins Best Male Singer.

And now for William Nevins of 6745 Paxton avenue, special policeman at a radio studio, a baritone. He was judged the best male singer although he said later that he "was scared to death." Standing behind a .45 automatic he wouldn't be afraid of anybody. But he was scared last night. Nevins is pointing for opera.

Roy Glahn of Orlando Park won second honors. He is a tenor. There were many excellent voices among the men and the decisions in nearly all cases were close.

Wins Violin Honors.

Singers are not the only ones who participate in the Chicagoland Music festival. There are also many fine instrumentalists, and last night violinists and cornetists made their bid for a place on the platform in Soldiers' field Saturday night.

Ruth Rubenstein, 16 years old, 1800 Farwell avenue, was the winner among the violin players. She wore a picturesque peasant costume. Adrian Da Prato, 17 years old, 2336 Huron street, and Joe Goodman, 17 years old, 1844 South Komensky, were the second and third place winners respectively.

Harry Tully is only 13 years old and he weighs only 85 pounds. But he can blow a trumpet. He practically blew the judges out of their chairs last night. And they gave him first place. Harry plays in the Morgan Park Military band. He lives at 11100 Bell avenue.

Twichell Wins Second Place.

Lewis Twichell is 18 years old and he won second place. He has been playing the cornet four years. He will have another chance Saturday in Soldiers' field.

These Cook county winners are only a few of the singers, bandsmen and orchestra people who will compete next Saturday at the Drake for the honor of appearing in Soldiers' field. There will be many others from twenty-five states in this country and several provinces of Canada.

The great entertainment you will see in Soldiers' field next Saturday night is sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and associated newspapers and musical organizations throughout the central west.

WPA Officials to Confer with Gov. Horner Today

Howard O. Hunter, regional WPA director, accompanied by Charles E. Miner, state administrator and Fred Austin, Miner's assistant, will fly to Springfield today for a conference with Gov. DIES IN HOME OF HEART ATTACK.

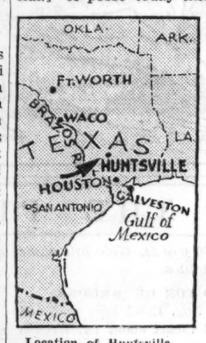
8 FLEE PRISON FARM IN TEXAS; TWO ARE SLAIN

Huntsville, Tex., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—A posse today killed two convicts of eight who fled from the Eastham prison farm, forty miles from here. A guard was stabbed by the gang.



Location of Huntsville.

Several hours later two more fugitives were captured nearby. Officers were close on the trail of the four others, who were on foot.

The eight convicts set upon Guard John Greer with knives this morning and wounded him seriously. Then they raced from the farm. Huntsville prisons have been the scene of numerous breaks.

UTILITIES CALLED TO TALK SUBWAY PLAN WITH KELLY

Mayor Kelly yesterday asked representatives of utilties companies to confer with him Friday morning on subway construction problems.

Two questions must be determined before plans for three downtown subways can be completed, city engineers said. These are how the utilities lines are to be carried under subway streets and who is to bear the cost of relocating them.

The companies receiving invitations include the Commonwealth Edison company, Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, Illinois Bell Telephone company, Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies, and the Chicago Tunnel company. City engineers will attend the meeting.

Fire Causes $10,000 Loss to South Side Battery Firm

Fire destroyed the top floor of the three story Coliseum Battery and Equipment company at 1616 South Wabash avenue early today. The blazé was preceded by a small explosion. A strong west wind fanned the flames and caused Chief John Finn of the 25th battalion to sound a 3-11 alarm. Firemen estimated the damage at $10,000.

AWARD WILMETTE PAVING CONTRACT.

The Wilmette village board last night awarded a contract for repaving Wilmette avenue from Clark avenue to Lake street to H. G. Goelitz & Co. of Oak Park, who bid $36,153.

SET PROMOTER'S TRIAL IN RUNLESS STOCKING DEAL

Charles A. Body will tell a jury on Aug. 30 how he planned to manufacture runless hosiery out of coconut husks. Spectators at the trial will include five women and several men who invested $9,700 in the scheme. Body is charged with selling unregistered stock subscriptions.

The courtly Mr. Body appeared yesterday before County Judge Jarecki on the charge. Six feet tall, with silvery hair and military mustache, Body was regarded as handsome by the women investors when they indorsed his plan with cash. That was before they got tired of waiting for the promised returns.

SINGERS FROM 16 STATES TO VIE IN FESTIVAL FINALS

161 Coming to Chicago for Saturday's Event.

One hundred and sixty-one singers from sixteen states will come to Chicago Saturday to compete in the Chicagoland Music Festival voice finals. The best man singer and the best woman singer will appear on the festival program that night in Soldiers' field.

Judges for women's voices will be Mary Ann Kaufman, concert soprano; Harry S. Walsh, director of the Northerners, radio singing group, and Richard De Young, voice teacher. For the men the judges will be Edgar Nelson, conductor of the Chicago Apollo club, Marshall Field and Sunday Evening club choruses; Edith Mason, opera soprano, and Goeffrey O'Hara, composer.

A great response has been received from Chicago music students who wish to attend the festival luncheon Friday at 1 p. m. in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel. To accommodate them the festival management announces that at 2 p. m. the doors will be opened and only 50 cents will be charged for the remainder of the program. This will include addresses by Olin Downes, music critic of the New York Times and chairman of music for the New York World's Fair, and Goeffrey O'Hara, composer, and a solo by Jessica Dragonette, radio soprano. The luncheon is sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Philip Maxwell, festival director, will be heard at 12:35 o'clock this afternoon on the midday service over W-G-N in a brief talk on the program Saturday night.

NEGRO HOODLUMS SMASH WINDOWS.

MEETING CALLED TO DRAFT FINAL AIRPORT PACT

Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes yesterday asked representatives of the Chicago and Western Indiana and the Indiana Harbor Belt railroads to meet with city officials Monday. The airport ordinance which provides for removal of the C. & W. I. tracks from the municipal airport, doubling the size of the present landing field, will be drafted in final form at the conference.

Joseph F. Grossman, first assistant to Hodes, said revision of the city's draft based on suggestions of the C. & W. I. is nearly ready. After the ordinance is passed, the railroad will acquire property for a new right of way north of 54th street by purchase or condemnation. The city will pay the cost which is estimated at $800,000.

Woman Taken from Train Suffering from Poisoning

Miss Mary Powell, 35 years old, of Perry, Mo., was taken from a Burlington railroad train in La Grange last night and removed to the Berwyn hospital. Physicians said she took poison at dinner. Miss Powell was on the way home after visiting relatives here. She declined to explain her act.

MY FRIENDS.

When the fratricidal New Deal strife in Pennsylvania boiled over it was revealed that Gov. Earle, a heavyweight friend of the White House, had borrowed money from the political contractor, McCloskey of Philadelphia, who in turn had been Pennsylvania's heaviest procurer of WPA contracts. One batch aggregated about $100,000, and the loan was only some $26,000, which the governor said was being paid back.

There were other transactions by Gov. Earle which the attorney general, Mr. Margiotti, thought should be investigated by the public prosecutor. Mr. Margiotti's opinion forced his own resignation—let us always be friends—and Mr. Earle has since had his legislature pass laws exempting him from grand jury action and putting the responsibility of inquiry upon his own general assembly. Pennsylvania courts have pronounced this Pennsylvania type of social security legislation void. The prosecutor is proceeding.

A flood was caused the other day in the Texas Colorado river valley, the worst the residents ever knew, because of the overflowing of the Buchanan dam. This had been an Insull development enterprise, abandoned and picked up by a syndicate represented by Ralph Waldo Morrison of the finance committee of the Democratic national committee. It was sold to the government for power production. The sale was an advantageous one to the promoters, who didn't know what to do with a derelict Insull enterprise. Its power was demonstrated by the deluge that came down on the Texas ranchers in the valley.

The first purge Mr. Roosevelt ordered in the party—back in 1934—was intended to remove from the national committee all members who had moved to Washington and opened up offices as lobbyists, attorneys-at-law, and public relations counsels. This was for purity. Mrs. Nellie Ross of Wyoming, Arthur Mullen of Nebraska, J. Bruce Kremer of Montana, Frank Walker, the treasurer, O. Max Gardner of North Carolina, and Robert Jackson of New Hampshire qualified by resigning and kept their shingles swinging outside their doors.

Mr. Farley, postmaster general and chairman of the Democratic national committee, was made an exception to the purifying. Mr. Farley did, however, resign from the presidency of the Builders' Supply corporation from which James Stewart and company purchased material. The bids on the 4½ million dollar postoffice annex in New York had to be rejected three times before the bid of James Stewart and company was found to be the lowest. Mr. Farley, although resigning from the presidency of the Builders' Supply corporation, remained one of its stockholders.

To pay some of the expenses of the Democratic national committee in the 1936 election a genius in the art of evasion and of finding loopholes through the law invented the de luxe presidential autographed campaign book priced at $250 a copy, to be sold to corporations which would violate the corrupt practice act if they made any direct donations. This frisking device was very successful, particularly with corporations having business with government departments or troubles with the department of justice. Stenographic records indicated that the solicitors had been quite definite in their assurances that corporations and individuals would find nothing but smooth roads in Washington if they could see their way to purchase ten or twenty copies of the autograph at $250 a copy. The department of justice, when seen, said that the transaction was quite legal. Some of the corporation heads found they had to transfer the expense to their own private account.

The silver purchase law found a number of friends who regarded the policy as one of the soundest financial integrity, with the incidental advantage of being highly profitable to them. When a curiosity regarding the brokerage accounts grew acute, Senator Joseph Robinson introduced a resolution asking Secretary Morgenthau to give some information. Mr. Morgenthau made a report dealing with one day, giving the names of persons having a strong silver position. Among them was James A. Moffett, former Federal Housing administrator, described by René Leon, the international broker, as "my best contact in Washington." Another was the J. P. Kennedy trust [Joseph P. Kennedy, former chairman of the securities and exchange commission, now ambassador to Great Britain].

Not on Mr. Morgenthau's list but of record elsewhere was Ralph W. Morrison of Texas, who was credited with profits of $217,000 on silver purchased in December, 1933, and delivered to the account of the treasury immediately after Aug. 9, 1934. Greater profits were reported made by foreign speculators, including the gaekwar of Baroda and Sir Henri Deterding, head of the Royal Dutch company, who once professed a great admiration for Mr. Roosevelt's political and economic genius, but later said he was beginning to lose respect for him because he was surrounded by so many humbug idiots. Mr. Morgenthau said that if the senate wanted more names it should get them itself. The subject was dropped.

Among the papers seized by Senator Gerald P. Nye's senate munitions committee were documents of Anthony H. G. Fokker, Dutch airplane manufacturer, which revealed that Elliott Roosevelt had been paid $5,000 to conduct deals for the sale of Douglas planes to soviet Russia, Fokker having bought the European sales rights for several American types. A credit scheme fell through because of the Johnson act forbidding loans to foreign debt defaulters and the payment of $25,000 to Elliott Roosevelt as a retainer was canceled. Before that Fokker had written a letter to Donald Douglas referring to Elliott Roosevelt and his associate, G. W. Stratton, as chiselers.

Recent news has had to do with James Roosevelt's successful years in the insurance business as a seller to corporations, among others, which had something at stake in the political field in Washington, and with Senator Berry's undertaking, through a government buildup, to get $5,000,000 for marble properties pronounced commercially valueless by every government expert who has examined them.

The full abundance of the more abundant life will not be revealed until its friends have been removed from place and the doors unlocked. There have been only glimpses of a land flowing with milk and honey.

ASSASSINATION AS STATECRAFT.

The Nazi creation of a new world to be adored, without benefit of clergy, sentimental ethics, or non-Aryan sources of inspiration, leads to some macabre experiments. The latest enshrines the murderers of Chancellor Dollfuss as Nazi martyrs in what used to be Austria. The assassins Planetta, Holzweber, and eleven others who butchered the head of the Austrian state in 1934 were properly executed for their crimes, but the Nazi creed has now made them the patriotic victims of a tyrannous régime.

It may be that the Nazi chief is making a slight mistake in sanctifying the doctrin of assassination. Autocrats in older days may have been wiser, at least in their own interests, when they made it the greatest of all sins for any one, anywhere, to offer violence to the person of the ruler. No other crime was punished so barbarously if committed by an individual or a conspiratorial group. When a nation in revolt executed a monarch the people could expect to bring all the neighboring monarchical countries down on them in wrath, as was the experience of the French republic after the execution of Louis XVI.

The autocrats had a good eye to their own security when they made assassination the greatest of crimes. The new despots of Europe, by hallowing the deed and erecting monuments to the assassins, are giving reputability to terrorism and are recognizing assassination as a commendable line of political action and patriotic behavior. The Japanese have done something in this fashion and they also have in late years lost a number of premiers and cabinet ministers of the first rank.

SPEEDY TRIALS.

Ten years ago the average time which elapsed in the Criminal court of Cook county between indictment and trial was more than five months. This year it is eleven days.

It is a truism that speedy justice is the strongest weapon which society has in the war upon crime. The soundness of this principle is demonstrated by a comparison of the proportion of convictions. Ten years ago the average was 39 per cent. This year it has been 91 per cent.

When trials are long delayed witnesses disappear and forget what happened, and even the victims of crimes revolt against the waste of time involved in appearing again and again in the courtroom only to learn that the hearing has again been postponed. Delay is in the interest of the criminal and the lawyer criminal. It encourages the intimidation of witnesses. Speedy trials are in the interest of society.

On Sept. 1, 1928, there were 1,861 cases on the docket awaiting trial. On Sept. 1, 1937, there were only eighty-one cases pending, and this year, according to the forecast of Thomas J. Bowler, clerk of the Criminal court, the number will be even smaller. In consequence, the number of judges required to hear criminal cases has been reduced by half and that in turn has contributed considerably to the speeding of cases in the civil courts.

To the judges, the state's attorneys, the public defenders, and the clerks of the court who have made this record possible the community has reason to be grateful.

CONSIDER THE PH. D.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

From time to time some maverick in the academic world kicks up a rumpus which gets into the newspapers. The latest squawk appears in the New York Times, which today carries an extensive report of a Town Hall address by Dr. E. W. Knight, professor of education at the University of North Carolina, who is at present serving on the summer session staff of Columbia. Dr. Knight took a good healthy crack at what he called "the mass production of Ph. D. degrees."

Much which passes under the name of research, especially in education and some other sciences [he declared] is really not research at all. I doubt whether many of the three thousand who receive their Ph. D.'s each year in this country have blazed new trails in the field of knowledge, despite the impressive titles and the great number of their published theses.

Dr. Knight went on to add that "merely arranging or reclassifying data should not be confused with real contribution to knowledge."

Heaven knows, some of the published theses are dull enough, in all conscience. Moreover, more often than not they are confined to some extremely narrow interpretation of an already overcrowded field. Apropos of Dr. Knight's charges, we dipped into the catalog of theses in the Library of Congress, and picked the following samples at random:

"The Loudness of Complex Sounds" [Princeton].

"The Place of Tentativeness in Current Christian Theism" [Chicago].

"Hittite Verbs in -SK-: A Study of Verbal Aspect" [Michigan].

"A Study of Subjunctive Usage in the Roman de Torre" [Cornell].

"Capital Punishment in Ancient Athens" [Chicago].

"Further Notes on the Marginal Mad Tom, Rabida Insignes" [Cornell].

"The Relations Between Wisdom and Science" [Columbus].

That is a fair sample. Not all the titles listed above sound screwy; probably several of these theses are really valuable. If an effort had been made to select only silly sounding titles, the list could have been made uproarious. Nevertheless, this random selection does show that the Ph. D. may mean very little more than a high sounding title and an academic robe. To have this discovery made by a professor of education is interesting, if not epochal.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

The recent excitement over Benny Goodman's jitterbug concert at Ravinia park causes one to reflect that the propagandists for this form of musical mania ought to get together and fix an authoritative time and place for the origin of the word "swing." Future historians and dictionary makers will be greatly obliged if this matter is cleared up before it becomes clouded with mythology. It should not be permitted to become as much of a mystery as "jaz."

The Problem of Jaz.

American folklorists and etymologists have been racking their brains and ransacking libraries for the last ten years in a futile search for the origin of the word "jaz." All the Negro languages of the West African coast have been studied in vain; various European tongues have also been examined without result. The only word that falls into the pattern is a technical term of Arabic prosody, and that is, no doubt, a coincidence.

There is evidence, however, that "jaz" is an invented word, belonging to no language except the American. Herbert Asbury tells a story that sounds plausible, and is supported by living witnesses, in his book of New Orleans lore called "The French Quarter."

About 1895, he says, a group of seven street urchins calling themselves the Spasm Band strolled the bawdy house district of New Orleans, giving concerts which astonished the natives. One crooned through a gas pipe; another played on a fiddle made out of a cigar box; another whiffed a harmonica. An old kettle, a cowbell, a bass fiddle made out of half a barrel, and various homemade horns and whistles were also among their instruments. They tootled into hats; they stood on their heads while playing; they howled "hi-de-hi" and "ho-de-ho." When Sarah Bernhardt came to New Orleans they serenaded her, and she proclaimed them the most amazing creatures in her experience.

These boys appeared in vaudeville halls under the billing: "The Razzy Dazzy Spasm Band." In 1900 a dance hall owner in New Orleans engaged a group of adult musicians to imitate their style of music, also under the title of "Razzy Dazzy Spasm Band." The Spasm boys threatened reprisals with rocks and ripe tomatoes. The dance hall then altered the advertisments of its musicians, and called them the "Razzy Dazzy JAZZY Band."

Thus, by a mere bit of rhyming nonsense on billboards, a word was born which was destined to become the label of an era in American manners.

"Mary's Little Lamb."

(As a professor of education would tell it.)

Miss Mary was the possessor of a diminutive and immature specimen of the Ovis Aries, a wool-bearing and ruminating quadruped who frequents rural communities and whose flesh is held in high esteem by gourmands to whose gustatory organs its flavor is most agreeable.

The shaggy and agglomerated filaments constituting in their collective capacity its natural outer covering, integument, or garment, presented to the vision a surface absolutely etiolated and albified and rivaling in immaculateness the lustrous mantle of crystalized vapor that commonly characterizes the winter landscape.

And to whatsoever locality, contiguous or remote, whither Mary's vagrant fancy, the call of duty, or perchance the parental mandate, impelled her, when not otherwise engaged, to betake herself, this juvenescent representative of the genus Ovis Aries, with a fidelity remarkable in one so immature and inexperienced, could be counted upon with absolute and entire authenticity to accompany her regardless or irrespective of her direction, destination, or objective.

The countryside is not a quiet place
When hay is being cut; the monotone
Of mowers clipping fields of Queen Anne's lace
And flowered clover seems to urge a lone
Black crow to shriller cawing; over swaying
Red blossoms angry bumblebees protest
The vandal of a tiny fur-lined nest—
The tragedy of little things in haying.

A schooner arched against the summer sky;
Among the sycamores cicadas trill;
And every breeze, it seems, the whole world over
Drips honeyed scent of columbine and clover.

ELECTRICITY ABOUT THE HOME.

We think of the electric current as indispensable to our very existence. While this is not strictly true—the human race probably would survive without it—it adds immeasurably to our comfort and convenience and has removed no end of wear, tear, and strain upon our muscles, tissues, and backs.

Despite the mounting number of electrically operated devices, accidents due to their use have not increased proportionately. There are only one-tenth as many deaths from this source as from drowning and less than 1 per cent of all industrial casualties may be laid at the door of this type of energy. The reason is that we early recognized the powerful agent with which we were dealing and extra safeguards, therefore, were thrown about its application. These precautions have been maintained in an ever growing degree. Another reason is that electricity carries a serious fire hazard and anything that will prevent a conflagration will guard likewise against contact with charged wires. Hence insulation has become the rule and foolproof fixtures and machines have been perfected. Still another safety contrivance is the fuse—a link of metal which will melt and thus interrupt the current's flow should a short circuit occur.

But every now and then we will read about an electrical mishap and it may not require much current to bring about a fatal outcome. We hear a good deal about high voltages [force], but this is not as important as amperage [quantity]. Thirty volts can kill if the amperage is great enough. On the other hand, 100,000 volts of an infinitesimal level of amperage will do no damage. The ordinary household standard of 110 volts a. c. [alternating] is hazardous unless both wires and fixtures are protected with proper insulation. The alternating current is three times as menacing as the direct.

Much depends upon how long the body is in contact with a live wire. Not long ago one of my friends experienced a distressing episode. He is the handy man about the house, always tinkering with the furnace, the refrigerator, or whatnot. On the occasion cited one of the floor lamps went out of commission. Without switching off the main current or removing the fuse, armed with pliers and screw driver, he started to tighten a loose connection in a base plug. Much to his consternation the pliers made contact, whereupon the muscles of the hand and the forearm were thrown into such violent contraction that he could not let go.

Fortunately somebody had foresight enough to throw the main switch. As he explained afterward, he was powerless to break the circuit. Apparently a stout heart stood him in good stead, for he received a charge sufficient to have produced anything but a favorable issue.

We may wonder why one person will suffer a serious accident while another, receiving the same volume of electricity, may escape with only minor injuries. There is a wide difference in individuals and much depends upon the position of the body and the direction of the flow of the current. For example, if the pathway is through the heart, we may expect that organ to remain contracted and hence cease pumping blood. If the chest muscles are affected, breathing may be stopped long enough to take life.

In addition there is the element of burn which may vary from a slight puncture wound to a severe eschar, wherein a single muscle may resemble charcoal. If the charge has been heavy unconsciousness may come on, followed later by paralysis and many abnormalities of the nervous system.

The first rule in treatment is to break the contact between the victim and the power station. Even though the period of exposure has been lengthy, artificial respiration should be begun promptly. Either the Schäfer or the Silvester method may be employed and the respiratory movements should not exceed 12 per minute. This should be continued for at least a half hour.

Unless you are an expert, don't try to fix your radio or electrical gadgets, at least when the current is on. Watch worn connection cords. Replacement is cheaper than a fire or a shock.

EMERGE IF CHILLED.

H. C. S. writes: I enjoy taking both hot and cold tub baths. I half fill the tub with water at about 105 degrees and sit in it for fifteen minutes. Then I let the cold water run in until the temperature is about 80 degrees. At other times I half fill the tub with water of about 45 degrees and sit in it for a quarter of an hour reading the paper. The cold bath seems to quiet me after a busy day. Are both these types of bath helpful or am I doing more harm than good?

REPLY.

Your bath plan is healthful. Continue to enjoy it. Only one precaution is necessary. You must emerge should chilly feelings come on.

AN EMOTIONAL REACTION.

G. B. writes: I have to write practically all day in my work, but I cannot do so in the presence of others. When I go to sign my pay roll voucher I get so nervous that my fingers become paralyzed. When I am alone at my desk I have no trouble, but if I have to work with other clerks my handwriting is worse than a child's. What is wrong with me?

REPLY.

This is purely an emotional reaction which only practice in self-control can cure. Read a few works on mental hygiene and make an effort to acquire poise. More rest will help to render your nervous system less sensitive.

EYE BLINKING.

Mrs. J. S. writes: My 5 year old daughter has the habit of blinking her eyes very badly. Should I ignore this or correct her each time? Should I consult an eye specialist?

REPLY.

You might take her to an eye doctor just to be on the safe side, but the chances are that it is a nervous habit.

WHY NOT BICYCLE PATHS AGAIN?

Chicago, Aug. 15.—At present our road building programs remain sterile of any hint that bicycle paths are ever to be any part of road planning. The construction of such paths along our highways, as I visualize them, is essentially so simple and inexpensive that construction seems an oversized word. Ready material is on the exact line in the dirt thrown up for road drainage. This waste could be leveled just enough for practical use [not speed] and given a slight surfacing of hard clay or fine sand. Precise grading is not needed, in fact, undesirable. The bicycle paths I remember with most pleasure just grew naturally under wandering feet and without benefit of blue prints or graders. Only the occasional culvert should call for cement or concrete. Of course these paths I suggest would be on the waste land next the fence line and separated from motorists by the customary ditch. Perfectly safe for children and octogenarians, the happy rider and the dim eyed rambler. There are still a few of us who dislike intensely running through the countryside like an unleashed fury. We'd like just to stroll irresponsibly again.

On a recent motor trip of 3,500 miles, including most of the famed vacation land of New England, we did not see the slightest hint that county, state or federal authorities ever dreamed any one would care to stroll afoot or pedal a bicycle. Where the town sidewalk ends there is the terminus for such silly people.

H. L. ENGLE.

DOESN'T CARE FOR "SWING."

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Of all the insane, idiotic, and just plain damfool subjects upon which to write a commendatory editorial, why impose upon us the jungle-inspired, cannibalistic subject of swing music?

Of what good can such so-called music be when it is of such a nature as to make hearers lose their heads? Savages do the same. They work themselves into a murderous frenzy by just the same methods before they go into battle or commit other atrocious deeds. From all reports and pictures there were some savages at Ravinia. Probably plenty of them. DISGUSTED.

YOUNG ROOSEVELT'S PIKER INCOME

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Around the Insurance Exchange and along La Salle street it has been bruited that in one visit to Chicago James Roosevelt has sold insurance to one group where his net commissions could not have been less than $148,000. In view of the income tax returns published this week, this, of course, was sheer bunk.

If Jimmy, with the prestige of his father's position behind him, could do no better than his income tax returns show, may I suggest that he come to Chicago and learn a thing or two about insurance and—politics. M. J. H.

RED TAPE AND WEEDS.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—There is a vacant lot back of my house where the weeds are 6 feet high in some places and nothing seems to be done about it. We have phoned the health department twice, but to no avail. They promise to take care of it, but nothing has happened so far, and in the meantime the weeds are growing higher. My father is a victim of hay fever, and so you can see the necessity of having these cut. You helped us in a similar situation before and I wonder if you would be kind enough to try to do something now. Anything you can do in this regard will be greatly appreciated. EDNA WILLIGER.

A WORD FOR DR. HRUDKA.

Cicero, Ill., Aug. 12.—I have read and heard a lot of racket about Dr. Hrudka of the Morton High school. It is plainly a case of a lot being said against a man by his enemies and nothing for him by those who know of the good he did.

Dr. Hrudka's trouble really is that he would not sanction the board members' using their positions for their own benefit instead of for the benefit of those 7,000 or more students and their parents.

Dr. Hrudka has raised the school to one of the highest accredited institutions in the country. He established order out of chaos.

Five in our family attended and three have graduated from the high school and college and are well acquainted with Dr. Hrudka's high reputation and wonderful work. CICERONIAN.

A LESSON IN PICTURES.

MAESTRO IN F.

SECONDS THE FORD PROPOSAL.

Laurenceville, Ill., Aug. 11.—I want to answer Old Timer in yesterday's TRIBUNE in regard to Henry Ford becoming our next President. I'll second the motion, "Me and my friends." I've been a Democrat all my life. But if the Republicans will run Henry Ford for President I'll assure them Henry will get my vote and a lot of other Democratic votes, too. He's an honest, self-made man. The country knows him, and it won't take a lot of stump speeches either to put him over. Come on, Republicans and Democrats, let's elect a good man. ANOTHER OLD TIMER.

WILL REMEMBER THE JUDGE.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—The nuisance "jitney" cabs on Michigan avenue on the south side have always been an aggravation and I have wondered how they got by the law. They are a great trafic hazard, stopping anywhere in the block without any warning whatsoever and they do not take the trouble to pull up near the curb. I am surprised that any judge will sanction this illegal menace to safe driving and I shall remember this the next time Judge Holland's name appears on the ballot.

HOURS FOR WOMEN.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I would like to know if the eight hour law is in effect in Chicago for women clerks and general office workers in a hotel. I have worked twelve a day without a day off for over six months. L. S.

The new eight hour law, based on the old ten hour law, reads as follows [new wording in black face type]:

"No female shall be employed in any mechanical or mercantile establishment or factory or laundry or hotel or restaurant or barber shop or beauty parlor or telegraph or telephone establishment or office thereof or any place of amusement or by any person, firm or corporation engaged in any express or transportation or public utility business or by any common carrier or in any public or private institution or office thereof, incorporated or unincorporated in this state, more than eight hours during any one day."

The department of labor, 205 West Wacker drive, is provisionally interpreting "private institution" as an asylum, charity, college, etc., owned or operated by private individuals as distinguished from one operated by the state. The act excepts, with certain qualifications, nurses, phone and telegraph operators with sleeping facilities, emergency operation of public utilities, canning establishments in season, nonmercantile long day staggered with a short day, and mercantile nine hour day or fifty-four hour weeks for not over four weeks per year.

OLD FACTORY BUILDING.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—[Friend of the People.]—I am a resident of Irving Park. An old factory building located at the corner of Belle Plaine and Tripp avenues is in a very dilapidated condition. The roof was stolen from the building and this has left it in a dangerous condition. I would like to know if arrangements cannot be made to have this building torn down. R. C.

An inspection has been made of these premises and the receiver has been notified to board up all openings and remove all loose parts or have said building wrecked. If the work is not done at the expiration of time allotted in our notice we will proceed according to law.

RICHARD E. SCHMIDT,
Commissioner of Buildings.

TWO DETECTIVES LOSE JOBS OVER HOLDUP SCANDAL

Board Holds Them Guilty on Five Counts.

Detectives Frank McKune and Earl Flannery, the two principal figures in the Town Hall police scandal of last February, were discharged from the force yesterday by the civil service commission. The commission found them guilty on five of six charges brought against them before the police trial board.

The five counts on which the pair were found guilty are conduct unbecoming an officer, neglect of duty, disobedience of orders, making false official reports to superiors, and neglecting to turn in all property taken from a prisoner.

Squad Follows Automobile.

The facts of the scandal are these: On Saturday evening, Feb. 26, Policemen Peter Frank, Erwin Smith, and Harold Thompson, members of a flivver squad, were sent to 4730 North Clark street. The trouble there was quickly settled and while Smith was writing a report Frank and Thompson saw an automobile leave William Nichols' gambling resort at 4635 North Clark. They saw another car cut through trafic and follow.

They suspected a holdup was planned and went after the second car. A block east of Clark street, in Leland avenue, they found two men holding up James J. Burke, 936 Wilson avenue, the driver of the first car. They arrested the two men and, according to their testimony later, took two pistols from them, one of which had been dropped on the street.

Turn Over Their Prisoners.

Detectives McKune and Flannery approached on foot. Both were off duty. They offered to take the two prisoners to the station. Frank and Thompson agreed and, they said, turned over the guns along with the prisoners.

Later the squad members found the prisoners had not been brought in. They reported the circumstances to Sergt. Michael Ahern. When Flannery reported at the Town Hall station he was asked about it.

"I gave them a pass [release]," he said. "One is Kenneth Peters, a friend of mine. It wasn't a stickup. He was only helping a friend collect a $116 debt."

The two detectives were ordered to recapture the two robbers. Failing, they were suspended. They insisted the two men had no guns. So did Peters, when he surrendered. His companion was never captured. The uniformed policemen stuck to their story and added that one of the guns, at least, was a police model.

Acquitted in Court.

The two detectives were indicted by the grand jury on counts of conspiracy and aiding a prisoner to escape. After two continuances the case came to trial in Criminal court in June. They were acquitted on one count and the second one was dropped. They then were brought before the trial board for disciplinary action by the department. The only one of the principals in the case to be punished in court was Peters, who was fined $100 on an assault charge.

COURTNEY RAIDS BOOKIES AFTER TALK TO POLICE

Raiders from State's Attorney Courtney's office descended yesterday upon two alleged racing handbook establishments in the East Chicago avenue police district. They drove 30 patrons from a second story room at 100 East Hubbard street. George Harris, 1331 South Springfield avenue, and William B. Hayes, 1100 North La Salle street, were arrested.

Twenty patrons were found at 530 North Clark street. The raiders arrested Martin Graff, 3655 Sunnyside avenue, and Philip Cooper, 3649 Douglas boulevard.

The raids came three hours after Courtney had conferred with Thomas Harrison, captain of the East Chicago avenue police. Present were Richard Austin and William Crawford, assistant state's attorneys investigating gambling. Courtney refused to say whether he had called Harrison in because of the gambling situation.

8 NAVAL FLYERS KILLED IN 2 DAYS IN 4 ACCIDENTS

Others Are Injured on Training Flights.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—A navy flyer was killed in a collision of two torpedo planes at Norfolk, Va., today. This brought to eight the number of navy men killed in training flight accidents in two days.

Radioman H. Muench was trapped in a torpedo plane that struck a sister ship 1,000 feet in the air over Hampton Roads. His two companions, Pilot A. E. Furry, at the controls, and Lieut. C. W. Lord, leaped to safety. An amphibian plane later found them floating in their emergency life jackets.

Second Plane Landed.

The other plane was brought to a safe landing by Aviation Cadet E. F. Gard. Both ships were attached to the aircraft carrier Yorktown.

Three other accidents to naval aircraft occurred in the San Diego, Cal., area yesterday. Three were killed when a huge patrol bomber plunged into the bay nose first. The victims were: Lieut. Clarence Emory Kasparek, pilot; Radioman H. P. Boeckmann, and Machinist's Mate F. Freeman. Their three companions were injured but were pulled from the water as the wreckage sank.

Three Killed on Mesa.

Three men were killed ten hours earlier in the crash of a torpedo plane from an altitude of 3,000 feet over Camp Kearny mesa. The dead were: Radioman Don Fay Smith of Des Moines, Ia.; Ralph Thomas Carter, aviation chief ordnance man, and Mike Frank Moscicki, aviation machinist's mate.

The bumpy landing of another bomber cost the life of Radioman B. T. McKenzie. The bombers involved in the accidents were in a sixteen plane squadron scheduled to hop Aug. 31 on a nonstop flight to the Panama canal zone.

PHONES JANGLE TO REMIND 186 THEY OWE TAXES

The telephone campaign to collect delinquent personal property taxes began yesterday. Official voices reminded 186 citizens that each owes the county treasurer $1,000 or more.

Results of the first day were encouraging. A dozen men who sat at telephones all day in County Treasurer Horace Lindheimer's office compared notes and found that 129 promised to pay; 8 came in during the day to explain, although only one paid; 7 want a review of their bills; 27 are involved in court cases contesting the taxes, and 15 are dead or have moved.

The debtors were reminded that the money was due June 1. Then they were asked to come downtown and pay their bills or to appear and explain why they can't. The telephone collectors expect to talk to about 4,000 taxpayers in the next two weeks.

Horse Show at Castle Park to Be Held Aug. 25

BY JUDITH CASS.

An amateur horse show of interest to Chicagoans is held each summer at Castle Park, Mich., where there is a large summer colony from this city. The sixteenth annual show will be held on Thursday, Aug. 25, and already the resort is a-buzz with preparations for it and its attendant festivity.

The show is a strictly informal one, with all classes limited to amateur riders with the exception of a bareback jumping class for grooms and professional riders. The proceeds go to the Crippled Children's Clinic of Holland, Mich.

A buffet luncheon will be served at the Castle on the day of the show. The performance will start at 2 o'clock. Following it there will be a buffet supper and dance in the beautiful outdoor pavilion by the lake. Gaited horses and jumpers will perform in a handsome green turf ring, and classes for hunters will be shown over an outside course with old rail fences, natural growing hedges, and stone walls.

Mrs. James R. Getz to Show New Hunter.

Mrs. James R. Getz, whose parents, the Maurice H. Needhams, are members of the cottage colony at Castle Park, recently purchased a hunter and will be an exhibitor on the 25th. Also exhibiting in the hunter classes will be Polly Mahler, daughter of the Ernest Mahlers of Neenah, Wis. Miss Mahler will be a guest of Carter Wilkie Brown.

Young Mr. Brown's parents, the Carter P. Browns, will have as their guests over the horse show week-end Mrs. Edward H. Bennett and her debutante daughter, Miss Betty Mead of Lake Forest. Mr. Brown, who was a guest of the Bennetts for the Lake Forest horse show in June, and Mrs. Brown and their sons live in Tryon in the winter and hunt with the Tryon Hounds.

W. T. Fry of Lansing, Mich., will judge three and five gaited horses, and John R. Kimberly of Neenah, joint M. F. H. of the Tryon Hounds, will judge the hunters. Mr. Brown, who established the Tryon hunt and privately maintained the pack for many years prior to its recognition by the Masters of Fox Hounds Association of America, is chairman of the Castle Park show. Young Carter and his brother, Austin Brown, who are honorary whips of the Tryon hunt, will show in a number of hunter classes.

Other Chicagoans who are members of the horse show committee are Newton P. Frye Jr., who is at home from Princeton, and Mrs. Getz.

In past years the Henry T. Stantons of Wayne have shown their horses in the Castle Park show, but they will not be exhibiting this year. Their two younger boys, James and Collier, are on a ranch in Montana, and Henry Jr. is working and living in Chicago, so there is no one to ride the horses. James and Collier will be at home in time to ride in the horse show of the Dunham Woods Riding club on Sept. 11.

Miss Elsie Earle Home from School.

The S. Edwin Earles of Winnetka, who have a cottage at Castle Park and who usually are there for the horse show, will not be there this summer. Their daughter, Miss Elsie, returned Monday night from Bennington, Vt., where she has been attending the Summer School of the Dance.

She wants to spend a little time on the north shore before going away again, so the family will not occupy their Michigan home until just before Labor day.

Miss Earle, who was the first young woman to receive the B. A. in dancing at Sarah Lawrence college, finished her course there last June. In the fall she will go to Aurora, N. Y., to be the instructor in modern dancing at Wells college.

Miss Phoebe Massey, daughter of the George B. Masseys of Winnetka, was the guest during the Old Spanish Days fiesta in Santa Barbara of her aunt and cousin, Mrs. Raymond Hardenbergh and Raymond Jr., at their home in Montecito. Miss Massey is going to Seattle and Alaska before returning to Chicago.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Listen, Movie Stars.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 16.—Over the week-end Edward Sullivan [no relative of mine] told the senate probers that Hollywood movie stars were giving active and material support to the communist party. Over the week-end movie stars staged an entertainment at the Writers' club for the Spanish communists. Not long ago Walter Wanger produced "Blockade," a propaganda picture for the Spanish communists.

Now as a Hollywood reporter I may be permitted to wonder at all of these things because you movie stars receive enormous salaries [wages that are out of all proportion to your talent or your training or your sacrifices]. Most of you have been lucky, enormously lucky. Performers in no other land in the world are paid so highly, treated so considerately. Why, then, are you communistic minded?

Let us examine communism and learn what it stands for? Stalin, in an interview with Roy Howard, told him that communism stood for individual liberty. Stalin defined it, so there could be no mistake. "Real liberty exists only where exploitation has been annihilated, where there is no unemployment, no poverty; where a person does not tremble because tomorrow he may lose his job, his home, his food."

If you read that quickly and unthinkingly, you'll say "Stalin is right." Think carefully as you read it, and you'll spot the flaws, the enormous flaws. Stalin says, in other words, that liberty and a full stomach are synonymous. He's wrong. There is a vast gap between bodily comforts and liberty, because liberty stems from the spirit and the mind, not from the stomach.

Liberty is the right to speak your mind; to have the right to choose, even though you choose wrongly. Liberty is the right of you movie stars to assemble freely in Hollywood in behalf of a communist cause. It is the right to strike, it is the right to picket, it is the right to criticise Franklin D. Roosevelt, it is the right to have a jury trial in open court, it is the right to worship God or blaspheme him, it is the right of labor to choose to work or choose not to work, it is the right of Wanger to make "Blockade" if he so chooses.

In Russia, if these selfsame movie stars assembled and criticized Stalin by name or innuendo, they would be imprisoned. Because of their prominence, the soviet state would make an example of them and ask them to play out a death scene against a prison wall.

In Russia the worker can't picket; he can't strike; he can't choose where he wants to work because the state is the only employer and he takes it or else. Your American capitalist boss holds the economic whip. He may give you the lowest possible wages, the poorest working conditions, thereby exploiting you, and he can fire you. But, he can't fire you if you refuse to work for him. If the worker in Russia rebels he is guilty of sedition and is shot to death.

There is no free press in Russia. The life of a paper depends upon its willingness to further the soviet state. It is directly responsible to the state, so it cannot be free. Tonight in a thousand American papers are editorials rapping the Roosevelt policies. That is liberty. If a Russian editorial writer rapped Stalin or the soviet state, the paper would be suppressed immediately, and he'd be killed on the following day. Tonight over America radio chains you'll hear radio commentators attacking government policies. That is liberty, in the true sense and meaning of the word.

So what do you movie stars want? Do you want to trade what you have for Stalin's liberty? Do you want material comforts or do you want the right to speak out freely against abuses as you do now? The southern slaves were well fed, well housed—but they were not free men. You movie stars have both comforts and freedom.

I believe that many of you movie stars are sincere in your wish to relieve the distress in the world. I believe that a lot of you are not so much in favor of communism as you are opposed to Naziism and Fascism. I believe that a lot of you are unhappy in the realization that your huge salaries have brought everything but happiness and contentment. I believe that a lot of you hate the government because it takes 60 per cent to 70 per cent of your salaries in taxes. I believe that not a few of you are born troublemakers and that you'd be mean, cantankerous and cussed wherever you were placed.

To those of you who are sincere in your wish to relieve distress, to those of you who are opposed to Naziism and Fascism, to those of you who are seeking the something that money can't buy, I say that the American form of government is preferable. It is not perfect, but at least it permits any one of us to get up on the housetops and cry out in protest or indignation at injustice, and so long as we can cry out there is hope, and, most important, there is liberty and free men.

The Bean Pole Figure Is Passe; Curves Ruling

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The summer bathing season revealed one wholesome note in connection with women's figures. It revealed that underweight is not today's ambition, that a few curves are not to be scorned beneath the 1938 frock. Even the young women obviously do not go breakfastless as was their reported habit not so many seasons back.

They have none of the scarecrow lines of yesterday's strenuous dieting. In consequence, neither have they the drawn, tired little faces that once dimmed the beauteous scene of youth. Nor have they the scrawny necks and sagging shoulders. Pretty grand looking young women—this year's crop who do not scorn a curve.

On one particular beach there was a couple of young women, in the late 'teens or early twenties, who were plump, indeed, but whose popularity, we noted, ran high. Not because they were plump, perhaps, but because they had the vim and vitality and good nature that go with nerves encased in cushions of fat.

We speak of them, however, as this year's phenomenon in poise and self-assurance as compared with several years ago, when they would have been prodded and joshed into self-consciousness over their weight.

So, it is obvious from the above and other points of observation that curves are welcomed today, reasonably nice, rounded curves. We address you young women who may be pursuing old dieting habits that are not consistent with current beauty of figure. Yes, there are some of you, we know, who still pride yourselves on the bean pole measurements.

But you're wrong. Vitality is one of the dominant requirements at the moment, and you would have more of it with the addition of a few pounds.

You can't be the worn down, easily tiring, hollow eyed girl of yesterday. Add a few pounds of weight and you improve your beauty. You look younger with the smooth, filled out cheek. You look younger with the vivacious eye.

How to add the few pounds you may be needing? Eat more wisely. It isn't always eating more in which the secret lies, but eating more wisely. And relaxing.

Too Hot for Best Man So RosenbaumChanges Plans for His Wedding

Ferndale, N. Y., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Dr. Leo Michel, a physician, found the heat too great to leave his hotel here for a wedding in New York today at which he was to be best man. So he phoned his friend, Joseph Rosenbaum, partner in a Chicago grain company, and asked him to bring the bride, Miss Jane Baker, New York model, to Ferndale for the ceremony. The couple made the trip to Ferndale and were married this afternoon quietly at the hotel Grossinger by Magistrate Arthur C. Kyle Jr. of Monticello. Dr. Michel has been ill. He did not think it wise to make the trip to the city because of the heat.

Campus Shops Are Experts on College Lore

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The college shops are sources of information as well as clothes. The experts can tell you all about college lore, even to such information as to where you can wear ski pants to class without causing talk. You will be told about the musts for any educational night session.

And the experts will list the sort of things the average scholar forgets during the frenzy of assembling a clothes collection that will take the public by storm. Ink, notebooks, fountain pens, calendars, pencils, and study lamp are important, especially if you unpack and find them missing.

In the college shops you tell them where you're going and they'll tell you what to pack for play from roller skates to hocky sticks. They'll equip you for study hours in cozy, cuddly flannel robes or pajamas. They'll insist upon a sleeping suit for unbeatable comfort, the suit all in one piece, including feet covers. These may seem a bit too much on the sissie side. But who knows, you might be hung with a fresh air fiend for a roommate. . . .hence the preparedness program.

Consult a college bureau before you buy or pack the extras. . . .this means hair bows, mittens, anklets or socks, and the O. K.'d list of gadgets [jangling charm bracelets and other audible jewelry] for the campus of your choice. The experts declare it makes a difference.

And don't forget the "don't be without" laundry case, the article that does the collegiate shuttle act between home and dormitory. Or wardrobe trunk to carry your loot.

Then there are the week-end cases specially designed for the four year program ahead. If you do your own room decorating with draperies, spreads, hassocks, afghans or pillows, pictures and thumb tacks, the enterprising guides can help you. Let these experts tell you how to make a right first impression a lasting one.

Fashion photograph . . . showing what's to come, for the suit shoppers. A slim, well tailored two piece suit has a trig, short fitted jacket of striped jersey in red and green. The slim straight skirt is of white and green jersey mixture. The starred ascot scarf is of white and green wool. Similar suits will be found in all the early fall collections for daytime and street wear.

Howard Hughes May Star Hepburn in Film on Life of Earhart

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 16.—(AP)—A motion picture based on the life of Amelia Earhart, starring Katharine Hepburn and financed by Howard Hughes, is in the "talking stage."

George Palmer Putnam, husband of the aviatrix who disappeared in the South Pacific more than a year ago, said such a film has been under consideration. Putnam's agent, William Hawks, said he had learned from Miss Hepburn's manager that the star "would very much like to undertake such a rôle."

Hughes could not be reached for comment, but Hawks added that the flyer's business agent had broached the subject of producing the picture.

In trade circles it was reported that Hughes—whose name often has been linked romantically with Miss Hepburn's—regards a film based on the exploits of Miss Earhart as a "natural." Hollywood also called attention to Miss Hepburn's striking resemblance to Miss Earhart.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

We have never been able to figure out why some women abandon good manners when they enter the beauty salon. We honestly don't know why murder isn't committed; beauty operators and shop owners must have good dispositions.

The very woman who would get livid if her husband or guests were late for dinner is apt to be supremely nonchalant about promptness in her beauty appointments. Her rudeness on this score wouldn't be tolerated in social life.

In the typical American salon, the one which gives superlative service, clockwork precision of operation is the mainspring of its efficiency. A good operator is a busy operator; a good shop is a heavily patronized one. It is dreadfully rude and even a little cruel for patrons to be careless about keeping appointments on time.

We've seen many an operator on the verge of hysterics because one or two clients who thought fifteen minutes wouldn't matter have put that operator's schedule so out of whack the whole day has been disorganized. It makes for poorer work, too. The operator with nerves on edge can hardly be blamed for bungling.

One day recently, when the temperature was well up in the nineties and life wasn't very rosy, anyway, we saw one patron send a shop owner and two operators just about out of their minds. She was twenty minutes late, but quite unruffled by that trifle; she was a vision in slow motion as she pulled off her gloves and set her hat just so on the rack. When she sat down she fiddled with her bag, found a cigaret, and sent the operator in search of a match. Ten minutes later she had a telephone call and made one herself. Then, as she was about to have her hair set, she was inspired to make two more calls. When we left two operators were off exactly thirty-five minutes on what was originally a tight schedule. And about fifteen people, including waiting patrons, were having the jitters.

Please, ladies, have a heart! Of course there are plenty of women who wouldn't ever be late if it could possibly be avoided, but all of us need to be reminded now and then that the beauty shop is not a cocktail party, where you can "drop in any time." ELEANOR NANGLE.

Tenderfoot's Inheritance

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Anne Claxon arrives from New York at the Wyoming ranch she has inherited, after refusing the last minute proposal of her city beau, Gerald. She meets Steve Hayward, a neighbor ranch owner, who tells her that Jake Collins, who owns the adjoining ranch, expects to buy her heavily mortgaged ranch, but her uncle never would sell to him. Anne determines to stay and fight. She is immediately attracted to Steve, but Gwen Collins, Jake's daughter, shows a proprietary attitude toward him. She wins over old Tim Salter, her uncle's foreman, and Whitey, a handsome ranch hand. She finds the house in disorder and a gun missing from the rack. Tim thinks Collins had been there and threatened her uncle with the gun, and that her uncle died from a heart attack. Whitey gives Anne a riding lesson. She tries riding alone and is thrown just as Jake Collins, Gwen, and Lawyer Bill Jennings arrive. Collins turns ugly when she refuses to sell.

INSTALMENT IX.

HEARTACHES.

All the morning Anne worked with a furious energy. She defied her aching muscles with a fierce kind of pleasure. The physical pain was almost a relief compared to the ache in her heart.

She'd never dreamed hearts could hurt like this. Actually hurt! It had been nothing compared to this, that night she had realized what Gerald really was. Then her heart had been hard and cold and dead feeling. If only it would be cold and dead, now, instead of hurting this way!

How could she feel so about a man she'd known less than twenty-four hours? Had this weird country put a spell on her?

After all, perhaps Bill Jennings was right. Why not sell out and go back? By living frugally, the two thousand would last her until she got a job. The depression couldn't go on forever.

Anne's fighting spirit repudiated this surrender.

No! She'd stick it out! If she lost the ranch, at least, she'd lose it fighting for it. She turned to the windows and began pulling down the curtains, coughing and choking with the dust that descended with them.

"Yuh ain't aimin' to get the whole place in order in one mornin', are yuh?" Tim inquired mildly, but with a curious speculation in his eyes, as he watched her.

Anne realized that she was treating him shabbily, by not taking him into her confidence about the interview at the corral. She stirred herself out of her uncommunicative absorption in her tumultuous feelings.

"No, of course I don't, Tim," she forced a laugh. "Let's sit down a minute, and I'll tell you what we're up against."

Anne outlined the interview, ending with Jake Collins' threat against any one who might buy part of the X Bar Nine land.

Tim's eyes narrowed and his mouth tightened. "Reckon Jake can make a heap of trouble if he's a mind to. It kind of looks like we're beat—unless yuh've got some other capital?" He cocked a hopeful eye at Anne.

"I haven't a penny," Anne admitted. "But, Tim, I have a plan."

A clatter of hoofbeats broke in on them. Anne sprang to her feet, her heart racing, as she recognized Steve. He took the slope down to the ranch house at a headlong pace.

"Aint he got nothin' better to do than come traipsin' over here?" Tim grunted and disappeared inside the house, leaving her sitting on the step.

Anne watched Steve ride up, her breath quickening.

The quick smile that creased his face in such attractive lines spread to Steve's eyes, as he called out in mock relief, "So, you're real, after all? I was afraid you might turn out to be some kind of a dream!"

"Nightmare?" Anne asked, but constraint clipped her forced gayety.

"Not so's you'd notice it." He dismounted and came up the steps, his blue eyes alight with pleasure at the sight of her riding togs. "That's the stuff! Ready for a riding lesson?"

"I've had it already. Whitey is teaching me. When I can really ride—then I'll show you!"

"O—I see." Steve's eyes went blank. "Beat me to it, did he?" He leaned against the porch rail, pulling out the makings of a cigaret. "I'd have been over sooner, but there was a bad break in one of our fences, and I had to attend to it first."

"It was good of you to come at all." Anne made a place for him beside her, but he pretended not to notice it. She felt breathless, confused, unsure of herself. Defensively, her voice took on a cooler impersonality than she intended. "You must be awfully busy. I am, too. This is the first moment I've sat down since daybreak."

"I'm afraid you had a poor night," Steve watched her through narrowed eyes. "I kicked myself for having given in to you, when I was driving back to town. You shouldn't have stayed here. I saw the Collins family on the way in, and Gwen gave me hell for having brought you out. Have they been over yet?"

Anne nodded. "Bill Jennings came with them. I told them I wouldn't sell."

Steve dropped his match and stepped on it. He kept his eye on the toe of his boot, not looking at Anne.

"After talking with Gwen and her father last night, I'm more sure than ever that you're making a mistake," he said slowly. "I've a hunch Collins will jack up his price if you'll make him a proposition. You'll be better off in the long run, if you pull out now."

A hurt sense of betrayal choked Anne's throat. He was playing the Collins' game! He wanted her to go! She swallowed, waited a minute to keep her voice from trembling.

"Perhaps you're right. But I'm going to fight it out." Relief caught her as Tim roared out from inside, "Where do yuh want all these curtains to go?"

"I'll be there in a minute, Tim."

"Don't let me keep you." Steve tossed away his half smoked cigaret. "I've got one or two things to do myself."

"Won't you—won't you come again some time?"

"Thanks." Steve swung into the saddle, his face as blank and noncommittal as his voice. "Good luck."

Anne watched him with quivering lips. Why had she been so detestable, when he'd come over to be friendly? Was this love? The kind of love at first sight that you read about? Love that made you do crazy, unaccountable things, because your heart was hurting so?

Bewildered speculation gradually pierced Steve's hurt pride.

What had come over Anne? She'd been so gay and friendly yesterday.

He thought back to Gwen's angry tirade last night. At least, that was better than Anne's cool snub! In his mind he contrasted the two girls. It would have been hard to imagine more different types.

One of the things that had so appealed to him about Anne had been her feminine charm, her friendly simplicity, and the sporting spirit with which she had entered on this more than doubtful venture.

He had always liked Gwen well enough, in spite of the fact that he had no use for her father. He admired her self-sufficiency, her daring horsemanship and general ability to look after herself.

Having gone to the same district school, he had a feeling of comradery for her. It was only during the last year that he had sensed that possessive attitude of hers toward him, which put him somewhat on his guard.

He had never kissed Gwen, although he had been tempted to, on occasion. He remembered in particular the night of the last rodeo dance, when Gwen had been stunning in a bright red dress that set off her black eyes and gleaming dark hair.

They had stepped out on the porch of the dance hall. Gwen had drawn into the shadows with a daring provocative laugh that assured Steve of forgiveness if he should allow himself to be carried away.

But the knowledge of the future pledge that would be expected to accompany any such act had pulled him up short. Well, from now on he was going to stay pulled up short! With Gwen and Anne and any other girl! Let Whitey teach Anne to ride, and to hell with him!

With a jealous pang he brought Whitey's image before him. He'd seen girls fall for Whitey's blond hair and blue eyes before! The fact that he was a good deal of a dumb-bell had nothing to do with his power to attract the fair sex, apparently. But he'd thought Anne was different.

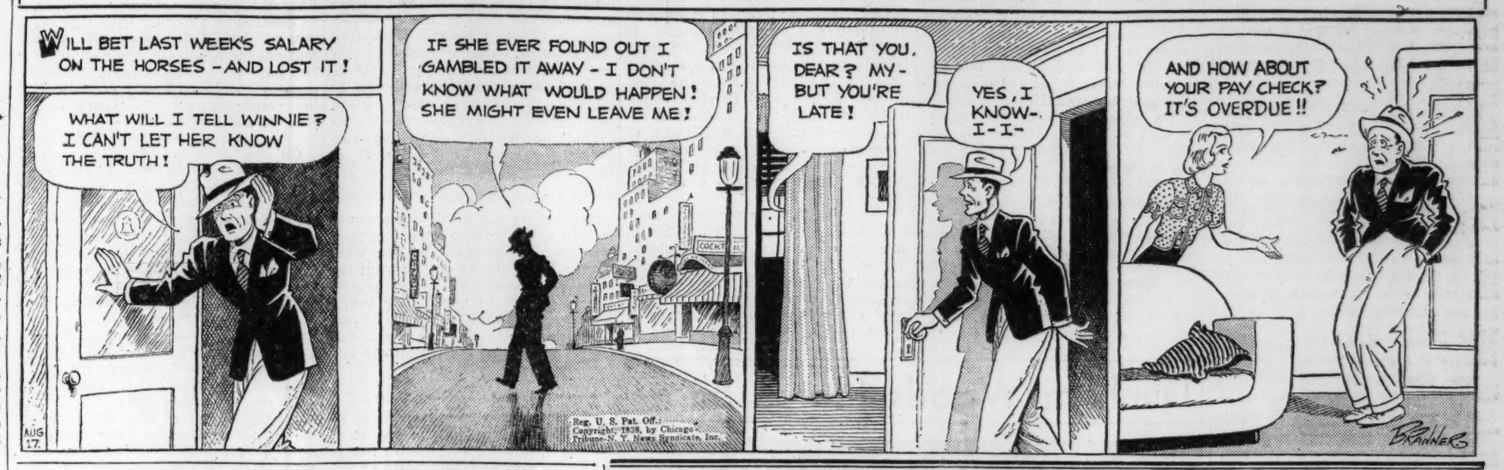
GASOLINE ALLEY—SIGNING OFF

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Hot, Isn't It?



Wife Foolish to Slave for a Philanderer

BY DORIS BLAKE.

When you sit in, as we do, listening to tales of hard grinding lives that some wives are forced to lead, we wish we could invite some of those spoiled darlings of the married world in for a day to learn how lucky is the lot of one with a considerate or indulgent husband.

We wouldn't ask them to suggest ways of handling certain of the husbands described by women whose rôle as helpmeet is all help and no time off, no money, no fun—just grind, grind, grind.

The spoiled ones would say: "But why does she stand for it?" They can't understand that a wife and mother of a young brood has very little chance of exiting from her job. She is too humane to park the youngsters in an orphanage. She hasn't relatives who would take in herself and three or four young ones.

Often, she has no one to turn to. Getting a job is out of the question.

And there always is the possibility that the woman, browbeaten and abused, loves her man in spite of his treatment.

So, when one like Mrs. Rhoda S. writes us a three or four page letter describing the long, long days and nights of hard work she puts in for her man and brood, receiving nothing tangible in return, we are hard put to extend her other than sympathy. We cannot make suggestions because we see no brighter road for her unless she will stand up to the man herself and demand her rights.

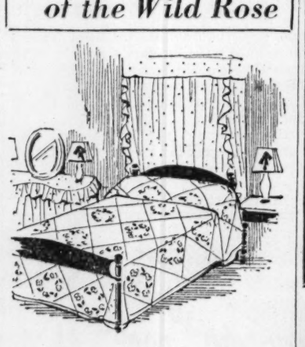
Whether that type of woman has it in her to stand up and bark is altogether questionable. But it is the only solution that we can see by which her lot may be improved.

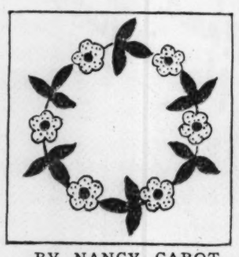
The tale before us at the moment is a sad one. The woman, married eleven years, with four children, never has known anything but hard, hard labor, helping nights in her husband's business and carrying the entire load of the household duties.

In the beginning she should have served notice on her man that she would do her share—the household share—while his job was to worry about the business end of the bargain.

What happened here was that the man left the business for the woman to run while he went out playing around. The first time that happens is the time for the woman to withdraw to her own duties.

Quilt Block Uses the Delicate Hue of the Wild Rose





BY NANCY CABOT.

"Wild Rose Wreath" quilt block is an adaptation of the old and well known "Martha Washington Wreath," and it also is a striking example of the delicately pink wild rose which has been transferred to a quilt design. The square applique blocks are set together on the diagonal in an alternate arrangement with plain blocks, as illustrated in the accompanying diagram. The applique blocks measure 15 inches square when completed. The flowers are quilted in outline, with the old "Star and Crown" quilting design used in the plain blocks.

For a pattern of the "Wild Rose Wreath" quilt block, No. X38, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Five Thousand Will Be Guests at Annual Auto Day Outing Today

Five hundred crippled children in wheel chairs will attend the orphans' outing today in Lincoln park. More than 5,000 inmates of Chicago orphan asylums and homes for the aged will be guests of the Orphan's Day Automobile association.

Thirty-eight homes of all religious denominations will be represented at the picnic. A continuous stage show has been planned, to include talent from the stage, screen and radio. The stage show will be supplemented by a dog and pony circus and clown acts.

For thirty-four years this picnic has been made possible by Chicago motorists who volunteer their cars to transport the groups to and from the park and hundreds who donate funds for the purchase of refreshments.

Republican Women Will Give Tea for Candidates

A tea for Republican candidates in Cook county will be given Wednesday, Aug. 24, in the Hotel La Salle by the women's division of the Cook County Republican central committee. Representatives from every ward and township in the county, as well as officers of all Republican women's clubs, have been invited. Mrs. Mabel B. Krutchoff, chairman of the women's division, will preside.

The Housewife

If you're a card playing housewife and would like to find a pretty new china set for a bridge table we suggest you keep in mind a set we liked. It's both smart looking and inexpensive and it would grace any table. The design is a soft plaid in either yellow, green, and white, or green, raspberry, and white. The shades are simple and graceful. Included in this set are four plates, four cups and saucers, and a creamer and sugar. EDITH WEIGLE.

Church Guild Dance.

The Junior guild of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Evanston will give a dance Saturday evening on the roof of the Orrington hotel. Mrs. F. Lynwood Steinbright is directing arrangements.

The wedding will take place in the Brick Presbyterian church of Rochester, with a reception following at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Motley Angle.

Miss Dewes and Miss Angle were classmates at the Masters school in Dobbs Ferry. Miss Angle was graduated from Smith college last June; Mr. Richmond prepared for Yale, where he was graduated in 1935, at St. Paul's.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. P. Pullman and their children are leaving the end of August for the A Bar A ranch in Wyoming. They will be away for two weeks.

Mrs. John McWilliams to Go to Spring Lake.

Mrs. John P. McWilliams is leaving Chicago Friday to spend a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Morse, at the summer home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Morse, at Spring Lake, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Howe of Evanston are sailing on the Duchess of York from Montreal on Sunday for a six weeks' trip to Europe.

Members of the executive committee of the Council on Foreign Relations and their guests will hear William E. Rappard, professor at the University of Geneva, today at a luncheon meeting. Invite Public to Help Plan Park Concerts

The Chicago park district and the Chicago Federation of Musicians, cosponsors of the summer long series of free Grant park concerts, are asking the public for advice and information which will be useful in the planning of next year's programs. Cards were passed out at the band shell last evening which patrons were requested to fill out and turn in.

The advice requested relates to the type of programs most acceptable to Grant park audiences and to the arrangements for seating. Information as to frequency of attendance is also desired.

Suggestions from the general public are welcome. Address any such to Chicago park district, room 200, Administration building, Burnham park.

Last evening the Chicago Symphony orchestra played the seventh of its eight scheduled Grant park concerts. The principal item of the program was the Eighth symphony of Beethoven. The ballet music from "Faust" gave a light touch to an evening which included such weighty things as Liszt's "Les Preludes" and the Sibelius "En Saga." Hans Lange, associate conductor of the orchestra, directed the program.

Tonight the Chicago Symphony orchestra will play the eighth and last of its 1938 Grant park concerts. The Beethoven cycle, in which all of the symphonies except the Ninth have been included, ends this evening with a performance of the Seventh.

Frock Unites Two Fashions

MISS' FROCK.

Two modes are combined in this early autumn style for misses, especially for schoolgirls. To go with a delightful blouse, which may have a collar and sleeves edged in lace or ruffling, or a simple high, square neckline bound to match the sleeves, there is a jumper. This style of skirt is popular as a vogue in itself, but it assumes the lines of still another fashionable mode, the dirndl. The suspender straps are the kind that stay on the shoulders. The waistline is styled to be snugly fitted, but the shirring below it lends peasant-style fulness to the skirt. Buttons play an important rôle, too, being set in a straight, close row or grouped at intervals.

Stripes and plaids are much in fashion right now, and the mode will continue on through the autumn, according to forecasts. You might combine a striped silk or woolen dirndl jumper with a frilly cotton blouse, or use a dark shade or plain silk or woolen and top it with a printed cotton blouse.

Style No. 3345 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 16 requires 1¼ yards of 39 inch material for the blouse, and 3⅛ yards of 39 inch fabric for the jumper.

Ice Fund Gifts Being Used for Critical Cases

That amount is enough to supply ice for a week in forty-two cases. The funds will be used in homes where illness has created an emergency. The demands on the ice fund have been so great that none but desperate pleas can be answered.

Yesterday's gifts were:

An error was made on Aug. 10 in acknowledging two gifts of $25 each from Mrs. Levy Mayer. Both acknowledgments should have read In Memory of Levy Mayer.

If you can help with either fund, please send your gift to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Square, Chicago. Each contribution will be gratefully acknowledged in these columns.

Any one who must prepare the evening meal in a short time, be the person a bachelor who knows little about cooking, or an experienced cook who is simply in a hurry, will find help in Mary Meade's booklet, "When the Business Woman Cooks." It sells for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Darborn street and Tribune Tower, or will be mailed for 5 cents in stamps. Address mail requests to Mary Meade.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The business woman cook may save herself time if she sets the table for dinner before leaving for the office in the morning. She may save more time by mixing dinner preparations in with the breakfast getting. Potatoes peeled and left standing in cold water for the day may lose a little of their nutritive value, but goodness, what a convenience they are when dinner time comes!

SHORT-CUT DINNER
French Meat Loaf
Creamed Potatoes with Paprika
Buttered Wax Beans
Sliced Tomato, Cucumber, and Onion in Vinegar
Hard Rolls [Bakery]
Caramel Bananas
Coffee

FRENCH MEAT LOAF.

If you have leftover meat, chop or grind it and use it for this recipe. If not, use ground beef. Season with salt and pepper and brown in a little hot fat with chopped onion and chopped green pepper. [If cooked meat is used, cook onion and green pepper in fat and add meat, barely browning it.] While meat is cooking, cut the top from a loaf of unsliced bread and scoop out all the interior, leaving the crust as a shell. Save the crums for a bread pudding or for soup croutons at a later meal. If you need to extend the meat mixture, add some of the crums to it. Fill meat into the loaf, replace the top slice, and brush the outside with butter. Heat in a moderate oven until well browned. Slice to serve.

If only two or three persons are to be served, a loaf of bread may make too large a dish. Individual servings may be made by using long bakery rolls in the same way. If these are used, serve the same kind of rolls as the hot bread.

Sliced tomatoes, cucumbers, and onions, sprinkled well with salt and pepper and immersed in vinegar, take the place of a salad in this menu.

Caramel Bananas
4 bananas
¾ cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons cream
4 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
Whipped cream

Peel bananas and split them lengthwise. Place them in a serving dish. Prepare caramel sauce by cooking sugar, cream, and butter together until thickened. Remove from heat, add vanilla, and pour while hot over the bananas. Let stand until cold. Serve with whipped cream.

A Persistent Youngster Is on Right Road

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

You want your children to have character, don't you? You want them to be determined, to have initiative, to be persistent? You think those qualities will be of value to them in later life? Yet I can guarantee that when some of those very qualities evince themselves about the house some of you are annoyed nearly to the point of tears.

Does Billy "keep at" you so for money to buy materials to make a radio that it gets on your nerves?

Does Tom keep up a persistent pressure to get you to go to the country every pleasant Sunday when you'd rather do other things?

Does the baby climb right back on the best sofa every time you take him down, and handle everything within reach, no matter how often you reprove him or even slap his hands?

Do you get all frazzled? Do you feel irritated, as you do with a vagrant fly that won't let you sleep on a summer morning, or with a bloodthirsty mosquito that sings menacingly in your ear in the dark and bites you in a different spot every time he returns to the attack?

Do you wish the children would let up and be satisfied and turn their attention to something else?

I know how you feel. I think we all feel the same way at times.

Yet you should feel glad that the children are this way. They should not give up easily what they want, nor be easily diverted from their desires. I will admit it would make the managing of them much simpler, but the comfortable way isn't always the best. And what seem to us objectionable ways have that color only because they annoy us. Intrinsically those ways are often indications of fine character traits or legitimate desires.

Isn't it, for instance, desirable for your children to be persistent in the face of obstacles? If they weren't so from the time they're born they'd have a hard time even developing physically with so many obstacles put in their way by grownups.

Isn't it desirable for a child to want things intensely, to care about doing and having and being things?

If we get this slant on our children's ways we'll cease to think of them as merely annoying. We shall, instead, recognize their value and try to achieve wiser methods of handling to fit each child and each situation.

Perhaps Billy could earn money to buy radio materials. Perhaps college for Betty would be a waste of time. Perhaps Tom's nature needs the country, but you can arrange a compromise. Perhaps the baby hasn't enough opportunity to satisfy his quite normal desires to climb and handle things. These annoying ways aren't usually basically undesirable.

"When Your Child Brings Home Bad Words" is the name of a leaflet sent on request. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Pass

"My wife was South and I was North. South dealt and bid one diamond. West passed. I looked at my miserable hand and decided to keep the bidding open one round, thinking my singleton spade and club ace furnished enough help to warant the bid. Especially if South's outside honor cards nappened to be hearts, we might reach game in that suit. When she jumped to three diamonds, I figured she had a power house and was forcing me to keep bidding open until we reached game, so I bid clubs to show my ace. She then went to game in diamonds, was doubled and, when I spread my cards, nearly knocked the table over, reaching for my throat.

"She contended that I should not have mentioned my hearts with a jack high suit, and that the bid should have dropped at the one level. I answered that my bid wasn't as bad as her jump in diamonds, that she forced me to keep the bidding open on a weak hand which I would have dropped at the two level had she merely rebid her diamonds. Anyway, she went down three tricks, which was too many the way the cards lay. Please tell us who was to blame. F. M. T."

This is just another case of the poor, suffering man being pushed around by a bullying wife. Naturally, I don't expect my decision to have the slightest effect on the lady in the case, but out of sympathy and loyalty I must, in this case, stand up for my sex.

The one heart response was unquestionably proper! North could show his six card major suit without raising the bidding level, and it would have been horrible bridge, as well as rank cowardice, for him to have failed to do so. South, with a void in partner's response, chose her rebid very unwisely. In the first place, South had nothing like the honor strength required for a jump rebid even in the original suit and, in the second place, the minimum requirements [four to four and one-half honor tricks with a strong six card suit] must be increased when a bad fit is apparent. A simple two diamonds was the correct rebid. Of course, in fairness I must point out that North was wrong to regard the three diamond rebid as an absolute force. Conventionally, it is only a strong urge. However, North would have been justified in rebidding the hearts, assuming [although mistakenly] that South either had a heart fit or a very powerful hand. The four club bid actually made by North was bad. There was no point in trying to show the club ace.

Needless to say, South's second jump, to five diamonds, was heaping crime upon crime. The partnership should not have gone beyond three diamonds, at the highest.

ALL-STARS TO PLAY FIRST INTRASQUAD GAME TODAY

COACHES GIVE PASSERS DRILL ON ACCURACY

All $3.30 Tickets Are Sold.

Redskins on Air

SAMMY BAUGH, Coach Ray Flaherty and other members of the Washington Redskins, professional football champions who meet the college All-Stars in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 31, will be on the radio tonight from Washington over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system. The program is scheduled from 9 to 9:30 p. m.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-American football players take their first comprehensive test this afternoon for their battle with the Washington Redskins in Soldiers' field two weeks from tonight.

With nine practice sessions behind them, including the light drill scheduled for this morning in Dyche stadium, the All-Stars will square off at 4 o'clock this afternoon in their first intra-squad game. The practice will be held inside the wooden fence inclosing the field at the north of the stadium and it is secret.

Unless you know some one who knows some one of the coaches you'll probably be thrown for a loss by the husky guards employed to do just that. The All-Star coaches do not desire secrecy because they fear that their plays will be sent to Washington for Coach Ray Flaherty and Sammy Baugh, but they do not want to be hampered by the crowd that is certain to report this afternoon if the drill were open to all.

The approach of the game has stimulated ticket sales so much that all $3.30 seats have been sold. There are still thousands available at $2.20 and $1.10.

Another Blocking Session.

Today's scrimmage is not the first, but it is the first time the players have been turned loose in all departments of offense. Contact work began Monday afternoon when Frank Filchock, Indiana university quarter back, received a broken rib on his left side in the forward passing drills.

Yesterday afternoon the ends and backs had a second session of blocking. The coaches gave them work on blocking defensive tackles, the primary move in almost any running or line smashing play, and equally essential in protection of the forward passer.

After this the men went back to rehersal of their plays. Practice one play a thousand times and it may succeed once to score a touchdown. This seems to be the motto of the coaching staf. Moreover, although the All-Stars have such line plungers as Frank Patrick, Pittsburgh; Corby Davis, Indiana, and Gary Famiglietti, Boston university, it should not surprise the 80,000 spectators or the Redskins if the All-Americans emphasize a wide open running and passing attack.

McMillin Seeks Passers.

Bo McMillin, head coach, who because of his position does a bit more worrying than his assistants, has nearly every back who ever threw a pass in a game working for accuracy. McMillin feels that the loss of Filchock is doubly disappointing. Frank not only was a fine passer but having played at Indiana, he knew the offensive plays McMillin has diagrammed for the All-Americans better than the boys from other universities.

Northwestern's Don Heap, Purdue's Cecil Isbell, Alabama's Joe Kilgrow, Louisiana State's Pinky Rohm, Colorado's Whizzer White, Oregon State's Joe Gray, and Minnesota's Andy Uram are candidates to continue the All-Star attack against the professionals where Sammy Baugh left off last year.

But in any compilation, one must consider Jack Robbins of Arkansas. In three years collegiate play, accord-

Kevorkian Is a Tackle with Winning Habit

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Alex Kevorkian, a tackle on the college All-Star football squad, is a veteran of the team that woke up Harvard. When he goes against the Washington Redskins on Soldiers' field on Aug. 31 he will give Chicago's football public a sample of the skill he showed in helping end the so-called "Harvard indifference."

For a few years the Harvard student body wasn't particularly interested in its football team. The boys weren't doing so well. Even then, of course, there was a certain amount of loyalty among both students and alumni, but in general the team wasn't taken very seriously.

Then Came Kevorkian.

Came the season of 1936, Kevorkian's first with the varsity. Princeton was on the schedule with all the prestige it had acquired in going through the previous season unbeaten and untied. Nearly every one took it for granted that Alex and his teammates were in for another sorry afternoon. Then came the jolt. These Harvard football players who could not get their fellow students to take them seriously went out and held the mighty Princeton team to a 14 to 14 tie.

That was a great thrill for Alex. It was the spark that put new spirit on the Harvard campus. The boys began to get interested in their team. If they could tie Princeton, maybe they were pretty good, after all. They were. They went on the next year to beat Yale—and that, Alex says, was the biggest thrill of all. It marked the realization of every Harvard football man's dream—and it was all the better because it came in his senior year.

He's Quite a Fellow.

Alex is a big fellow. He weighs 214 pounds and he's over 6 feet tall. He's mighty rugged, too, and the Redskins will have a big job sending any plays over him. During his two years on the varsity, Harvard's opponents weren't making much ground at his tackle.

Alex, whose home is in Newton, Mass., a suburb of Boston, got his start in football as a member of the Newton High school team. This outfit was the champion of its league one season. Later he went to Phillips Exeter academy.

Now that school days are over, Alex is going into his father's rug and carpet business. This occupation fits in well with his racial background, for he is of Armenian extraction. Alex already is pretty well acquainted with the business, for he has spent most of his summers learning about it while working with his father.

When free from school and office cares, Alex likes to get out to the Cape Cod neighborhood to follow his hobby—boating. He's not particularly interested in sailing craft—outboards are his specialty.

Ambers Faces Armstrong for Title Tonight

Both boys completed training without serious ailment. The garden is airconditioned and is likely to be much cooler than the Polo grounds, the original site of the fight, which was postponed last Wednesday because of rain.

Jacobs, speaking for himself and his new partner, the Garden corporation, predicts a sellout and a net gate of between $130,000 and $139,000. With lines in front of his box office, Mike has eliminated a large number of seats originally priced at $7.75, placing on them the higher value of $11.50. He is prepared to change prices all along the line in order to increase gate receipts and at the same time add value to the purses Ambers and Armstrong will receive for their efforts.

Armstrong Is at 3 to 1.

There is little betting, which may explain why Armstrong, seeking his third championship, remains at 3 to 1 to win. Hank is a 6 to 5 choice to win the lightweight crown and in addition keep the welterweight title.

The New York athletic commission today tried to forestall any possible attempt by Ambers to claim the welterweight championship in the event he whips Armstrong. The latter holds both the featherweight and welterweight titles.

The commission summoned Jacobs, Eddie Mead, Amstrong's manager, and Al Weill, Ambers' manager, and got them to approve an amendment to the original contract for the bout. The amendment states that tomorrow night's bout will be "for the lightweight championship of the world and no other title will be involved."

Threatened to Claim Title.

HARTNETT GETS PAT ON BACK FROM WRIGLEY

Told He Can Dispose of Players at Will.

P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, yesterday buoyed up the spirits of Gabby Hartnett, his wounded manager and star catcher, by calling him into his office and telling him that he was well pleased with the way he has handled team affairs since he took over the club on the evening of July 20.

Gabby, who went to the conference sick at heart over the knowledge that he will be out for a month because of a thumb fracture suffered in Monday's opener with the Cardinals, and depressed over the minor tragedy of losing to the Cards, had not previously had a prolonged talk with his big boss. He was as jubilant as a star catcher with a busted thumb could be when he left Mr. Wrigley's office and went to Wrigley field to direct yesterday's doubleheader with the Cards.

Told He Has Free Hand.

"I told Gabby that he has shown me that he can be relied upon to handle the team in every way," said Mr. Wrigley. "I assured him that he is free to dispose of any or all players on the roster.

"Naturally I told him the front office must pass on large expenditures, but that there is money in the treasury and he will be supported by a bankroll when he decides when, how and if he wants to alter the ball club.

"The manager did not present any alibis or assail any of the players now on the Cubs. Naturally he contemplates changes before the start of next season and doubtless has definite plans along these lines this far in advance.

"If Hartnett wants to bring in players during the late weeks of the season he will be supported in every way, regardless of the status of the pennant race."

Gabby Encouraged by Meeting.

Hartnett had not previously been assured of such support and at times had even expressed lack of confidence that he would be authorized to make plans for next year. He accepted yesterday's pow wow as a most encouraging development. He refused to say when rebuilding processes will begin.

Hartnett, who managed with his broken thumb in splints yesterday, doesn't expect to be catching in a month. And by that time the skipper may decide to take a few weeks for good measure.

BUDGE ENTERS QUARTER-FINALS OF CASINO MEET

Newport, R. I., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Don Budge, rated the world's outstanding amateur tennis player, today opened his drive on a third consecutive Newport Casino title by breezing through two competent rivals to gain the quarter-finals.

Budge whipped Robert Low of New York, 6-2, 6-2, in the first round, then eliminated Owen Anderson of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-3. Budge, out of singles play since he returned from his highly successful European invasion, appeared close to top form.

Second Seeded Joe Hunt of Los Angeles kept pace with Budge by defeating Frank Shields of Hollywood, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3. Frank Parker of Beverly Hills, Cal., who gained the quarter-finals yesterday, was joined today by Elwood Cooke, Portland, Ore., seeded fourth, and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex.

Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Cal., sixth seeded, became the third victim of the heat when he was forced to default this morning to William Murphy of Chicago after the latter had won the first set at 6-2, and had a three game to one lead in the second.

Bryan Grant of Atlanta beat Robert Kamrath of Austin, Tex., 6-3, 6-1, and two other seeded players—Gene Mako of Los Angeles and Sydney Wood of Beverly Hills, Cal.—advanced.

DEMAREE HITS TRIPLE TO END OPENING GAME

Davis Gives St. Louis Even Break.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs put on several heroic scenes yesterday to take the first game of a double-header with the Cardinals, 5 to 4, in eleven innings. But they were fresh out of story book stuff in the second encounter and the orchestra boys tagged Larry French with his seventeenth defeat of the season, 5 to 2, though Larry went away in the third with the score 3 to 1 against him.

It was 7:33 o'clock when the second game ended, four game-halting showers being responsible for the encroachment on the supper hour.

Ex-Cubs Are Pests.

The first game, won by Tex Carleton, after the Cubs had tied the score with two runs in the ninth, halted a Cardinal winning streak in Wrigley field which had stretched to four straight.

Curt Davis, factor in the Dizzy Dean thing, went all the way to win the second game. He and Stu Martin contributed homers. It was Curt's ninth victory of the season. He and Lon Warneke, both former Cubs, have scored twenty of the Cards' forty-six victories this season.

This Was a Tough One.

The Cubs suffered a lot of mental anguish before they grabbed the first game on Ken O'Dea's single and Frank Demaree's triple after two were out in the eleventh.

The Cubs were losing, 3 to 0, when they put together a two run splurge in the fifth inning on a walk to Hack and successive singles by Herman, Collins and Galan. And going into the ninth with the score 4 to 2 against them, the Cubs tied the count with two runs in which a walk, a triple by Collins and a single by Galan were potent factors.

Through the day's split the Cubs lost a half game to the leading Pirates, whom they now trail by seven games. They did, however, gain a half game on the Giants, who lead them by two games. They also broke the third place tie with their guests of today, the Reds, who dropped back into fourth place, a half game behind.

FIRST GAME

Maybe Bill Lee didn't warm up enough before starting his pitching engagement in the first game. Moore, first batsman of the day, socked his second homer of the season. Stu Martin, next batsman, beat out a bunt, but after that the Cards didn't make a hit until the fifth.

In the fifth they made three hits, stole three bases and scored two runs to set the score at 3 to 0. Myers started the inning by beating out a bunt and promptly stole second. Myers went to third on Bremer's fly to Reynolds and scored when McGee dropped a single in short right. Moore forced McGee and stole second, whence he scored on Martin's single to right. Martin promptly stole second, but Slaughter tapped to Herman to end the inning.

Going into their fifth the Cubs had a record of two doubles and a single, all of them spurious efforts of the blooper type and each perpetrated with two out.

They Finally Score.

In the fifth they made two runs. After Lee had struck out, Hack walked and stopped at second when Herman smacked the first clean hit off McGee, a single to right. Collins singled to left center, scoring Hack and putting Herman on third. Galan singled to right, scoring Herman. Collins went to third and Galan to second on Slaughter's throw to Gutteridge. Reynolds tapped to McGee and Collins was run down, Galan reaching third. Mize made a diving stop of O'Dea's drive and retired the side when he beat Ken to first.

The Cards did some sound smacking in the eighth to add their fourth run. With one out, S. Martin singled and went to third on Slaughter's single. Medwick scored Martin with

TRANSPORT RUNS AS HOT TIP AND SCORES HANDILY

Bold Fay Beats Band of Two Year Olds.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Heavy betting on the Kentucky horse, Transport, resulted in a melon cutting at Washington Park yesterday afternoon. The 6 year old, owned by Mrs. G. B. Scallon, came from behind in the stretch to win the seven furlong fourth race by a length.

Morning line odds against Transport were 15 to 1, but the wagering was not long under way until the price dropped to 7 to 1. Then a couple of minutes before post time somebody dropped a $2,000 wager into the totalizer machines and the price receded to 7 to 2.

Transport Wins Handily.

There was nothing strange about persons wanting to wager on Transport. He had beaten the same kind of horses at Arlington Park late in July. In his last outing at Washington Park a few days ago he showed all sorts of speed after getting away slowly in a race.

He had no mishaps after all the money was down on him yesterday. Cee Jane, Macawlee, and Gold Mesh outran him for a time. On the lower bend Macawlee moved out with a rush to take a lead of a length and a half. At the same time Transport moved into second place. Half way down the stretch Transport got up and conquered Macawlee. The race was over. Transport's backers rushed to cash their tickets.

Transport ran the seven furlongs in 1:26 4-5 over a track that was slow. Jocky Herbert Litzenberger had guided him safely home. Gold Mesh rushed up to take second money and Macawlee, although faltering, managed to save third money.

Those who were in on the killing collected $9.80 to win, $9.40 to place, and $5.60 to show.

Jocky Is Alert.

Bold Fay from the Millsdale stable of Chicago won the best race of the afternoon, a dash at five and one-half furlongs fashioned for 2 year olds, but she might have been beaten had she not led her field away from the starting gate by some two lengths. Her right to dominate the running at any stage of the encounter never was questioned. Isaac Weil's Connie Ann showed fine speed on the last turn. It got her second money. Rembrandt, the favorite, could do no better than finish third.

It was Jocky Bobby Finnerty's alertness at the post that made it possible for Bold Fay to race into such a long early lead. She was making her first start of the Washington Park season and it was the second victory she had scored.

The route running mare, Flosilda, also rolled up her second triumph of the Washington Park season when she took the mile sixth race by two and one-half lengths from Chimney Top and Crout au Pot. She paid off at fairly good price, rewarding her backers at $10.60.

YANKS WIN TWICE, 16 TO 1 AND 6-2; POWELL IS BOOED

Washington Fans Shower Jake with Pop Bottles.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—(AP)—The New York Yankees ran their American league lead to eight games today by sweeping a double-header with the Senators. After Lefty Gomez's six hit pitching and a 14 hit attack had given them a 16-1 triumph in the opener, they came back behind another six hitter by Charley Ruffing to take the second game, 6 to 2.

Jake Powell, who returned to the Yankee lineup in the second game following a ten day suspension for a remark in a radio interview, twice was the target for pop bottles. He walked in the second inning and a bottle was thrown at him when he reached first base. In the sixth inning, while helping Joe Di Maggio chase Buddy Lewis's double, he moved close to the left field stands and was showered with bottles.

WILSON, HAUSER BRING BIG BATS TO TOWN SUNDAY

Two of the greatest sluggers in modern baseball—Lewis [Hack] Wilson and Joe Hauser—will come to Chicago Sunday to take aim at the semi-pro fences of the Mills stadium and the Spencer Coals' park. Wilson, former star of the Chicago Cubs, who hit fifty-six home runs for a National league record in 1930, will play center field for the Tube City Brewers of McKeesport, Pa., against the Mills in a double-header. Hauser, who was marked for a spectacular major league career until he broke his leg with the Philadelphia Athletics, is remembered best for hitting sixty-nine home runs in one season, a record for organized baseball, while playing with Minneapolis. He will lead the Sheboygan Chairs against the Spencer Coals in a Tri-State league doubleheader.

Sox, Tigers Rained Out; Play 2 Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 16.—The White Sox came to town this morning eagerly anticipating three single games which for them is the equivalent of leisure. They figured it was going to be a swell way to rest up for the siege of double-headers which gets under way shortly. The weather crossed 'em again. They were rained on for the umpsteenth time this season so they didn't open with the new broom Tigers and as a result will have to toil through a minimum of eighteen innings tomorrow.

The latest developments in the Sox efforts to work through their complete schedule of 154 games means they must wage warfare 20 times in the next 12 days and that's a plenty tough program, especially for the pitchers. There's another double header at Cleveland on Sunday. The same at New York next Tuesday and Wednesday. The same at Boston for the three days following the New York stop. A week from Sunday at Philadelphia the twin bill supply will become exhausted for the time being. The players may become exhausted before that.

If the weather will quit dogging the Sox tomorrow long enough for the double-header to be staged, Ted Lyons will start one of the games and Jack Knott, ex-Brownie, the other. Lyons was going to work today and the extra 24 hours of rest didn't disturb him except that it shortened the interval between his subsequent appearance. And Lyons, being a baseball elder, can't get along on shortened rations. The Tigers will start Tommy Bridges and Roxie Lawson.

Conley-Landsdowne Bout HeadsMat ProgramTonight

Cubs Divide Double Header with Cardinals

Hack walked at the start of Chicago's tying ninth, but was forced by Herman. Collins then tripled to score Herman. Galan caromed a hot one off Mize's glove for the single which scored Collins with the tying run.

With one strike on Moore in the tenth, the first of the series of showers busted loose. After the game had been resumed, Moore was called out on strikes. S. Martin flied to Demaree and Slaughter popped to Jurges. The second shower halted things before the start of the Chicago tenth. Shortly after play was resumed, a bigger and better shower gave down, causing the third recess.

SECOND GAME

The second game started at 5:46 o'clock, which was just about a half hour before Larry French, recent stomach ache victim, was knocked out. The Cards made two runs in the second inning on a pass and singles by Gutteridge, Owen, and Davis.

The Cubs would have tied the score in their second but for Galan's failure as a mudder. Augie opened with a single and O'Dea followed with another one. Galan rounded second on O'Dea's hit, skidded, and fell down. He was out, Moore to S. Martin. O'Dea reached second on a wild pitch. Demaree flied to Moore, but Marty, in the lineup because Reynolds had become ill after the first game, singled, scoring O'Dea.

Stu Martin Connects.

Stu Martin opened the third with a homer. After Pepper Martin had been retired Medwick and Mize singled. Russell then replaced French and got the side out without further damage.

There was more fuzzy business on the baselines in the fifth. Marty opened with a single and Jurges whiffed. Cavarretta batted for Russell and lined a single to right, which put Marty on third. Cavarretta reaching second when Pepper Martin's throw got away from Gutteridge. Hack, hitless all afternoon, appeared to have broken through until Mize ran far toward second and speared the ball. Mize had no chance for a play on Hack but discovered Marty and Cavarretta both standing on third. Mize trotted across the diamond and tagged both runners. Cavarretta got the thumb. To add to the embarrassment, Herman promptly banged a single to left, Marty scoring. S. Martin threw out Collins.

Davis Crashes Homer.

Carleton suffered a severe shock late in his first inning of pitching, the sixth. Myers struck out and Owen sent an easy fly to Galan. Then Davis knocked a homer into the stands in left.

The Cardinals scored a fifth run just as the afternoon's fourth heavy shower broke loose in

INT. TELEPHONE REVEALS HOW IT WILL PAY NOTES

Banks to Help Company Meet Maturity.

New York, Aug. 16.—[Special.]—The International Telephone and Telegraph corporation has completed arrangements to meet the Jan. 1, 1939, maturity of 10 year convertible 4½ per cent debentures, according to a report to the Securities and Exchange commission, released today. The issue was outstanding to the amount of $37,811,100 at the end of 1937, and represented the company's major financial problem.

All funds required to meet the maturity are either in the bank earmarked for this specific purpose, or have been arranged for under an agreement completed early in July with J. P. Morgan & Co., the National City bank, First National bank, Guaranty Trust company, and Bankers' Trust company. By July 30, 1938, the company had reduced the amount of debentures outstanding to $33,895,100 through the purchase of $3,766,000 in the open market. The bonds sold as low as 74 earlier this year.

Gets Funds in Other Ways.

In a letter to these banks confirming the agreement, International Telephone outlined the various means by which it had raised $17,744,728 by the end of June to meet the maturity. That would leave approximately $18,782,000 required for bond retirement.

The corporation will receive approximately $9,000,000 from the sale of $15,000,000 debentures abroad by the International Standard Electric corporation, a subsidiary. The remainder of the proceeds of that financing will remain with the subsidiary. International Telephone also will receive $1,683,000 from the sale of preference shares of the United River Plate Telephone company, the Argentine subsidiary.

Relies on Subsidiary Earnings.

The company expects also to receive from International Standard Electric before Dec. 15 on account of earnings and otherwise not less than $4,800,000. Upon the receipt of all these funds the parent company will have available approximately $33,238,000.

The banks have agreed to extend for a five year period their loans to the corporation by accepting in exchange for the notes now held, amounting to $9,269,083, new notes payable Jan. 1, 1944, with interest at 5 per cent. The banks also will lend the company such amounts as have been applied since March 4, 1938, to the reduction of notes then held. They will also lend to the company an additional $3,000,000 or such lesser amount as may be required for the debt retirement.

OHIO OIL GETS FUNDS TO RETIRE SENIOR SHARES

Serial Notes, Debentures Are Sold.

New York, Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Through private sale of serial notes and sinking fund debentures, the Ohio Oil company, it was announced today, had raised funds with which to retire approximately 35 per cent of its outstanding 6 per cent preferred stock. Further steps in the same program, it was reported, will result in retirement of the entire issue, of which $54,607,700 was outstanding at the end of June.

The private sale of securities included $7,000,000 of serial notes due 1939 to 1945, sold to a bank, and $14,000,000 of fifteen year 3¼ per cent sinking fund debentures, sold directly to an insurance company.

Buys Stock in Market.

In connection with this direct step to retire preferred stock, it is understood the company already has acquired approximately 5 per cent of the issue in the market, picking up the shares below the call price. Preferred shares to be retired will be called for redemption Sept. 15 at 110 on a pro rata basis.

The Simonds Saw and Steel company in a report to the Securities and Exchange commission, released at the New York Stock exchange today, said that on July 1 a total of $1,500,000 was borrowed. Promissory notes covering this amount were granted to the First National bank of Boston and the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. The money received was for construction purposes.

Utility Will Sell Bonds.

The Securities and Exchange commission authorized the West Penn Power company, a subsidiary of the American Water Works and Electric company, to sell $17,000,000 of its 3¼ per cent first mortgage bonds, due 1968, to six insurance companies. Proceeds are to be used to retire $10,000,000 of series H bonds to repay bank loans totaling $5,300,000, and to finance plant additions.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. said that during July 681 shares were paid for and delivered under plan 1 of the stock purchase contracts, 5,600 shares under plan 2, and 1,006 shares under plan B.

SEARS' 24 WEEK PROFIT SLUMPS TO $7,118,888

Crown Cork & Seal Also Earns Less.

Sears, Roebuck & Co.'s net profit in the first twenty-four weeks of the current fiscal year fell to less than one-half the profit in the corresponding period last year. This was shown in the company's interim statement issued yesterday.

L. M. Williams Jr., president of Freeport Sulphur, named director of Goodrich Tire.

Consolidated net income for the twenty-four weeks ended July 16 was $7,118,888, or $1.28 a share. This compared with $15,190,441, or $2.76 a share in the first twenty-four weeks of the preceding fiscal year. Consolidated net sales for the period totaled $224,986,360, a drop of 11.9 per cent from the 1937 period.

The Caterpillar Tractor company, Peoria, Ill., showed a July profit against a loss in June. Earnings, however, were much lower than for July, 1937. B. F. Goodrich company had a first half loss against a profit in the first six months of 1937.

Homestake Earns Less.

Slightly lower earnings for the first six months, compared with the 1937 first half, were reported by the Crown Cork and Seal Company, Inc., and Homestake Mining company. International Paper and Power company had a June quarter loss against a profit in the June, 1937, quarter. Columbian Carbon company's profit in the second quarter was a shade lower than in the preceding quarter and substantially less than the second quarter of 1937.

Caterpillar Tractor's profit of $158,473 in July compared with a loss of $444,515 in June and a profit of $1,104,208 in July, 1937. Sales last month totaled $4,069,448 against $6,201,640 in July of last year. For the seven months ended July 31, Caterpillar's sales fell to $28,252,109, compared with $44,352,889 in the first seven months of 1937. Profit declined to $1,129,087, compared with $7,407,083.

Goodrich Loss $209,551.

B. F. Goodrich's net loss in the first six months was $209,551, compared with net profit in the first half of 1937 of $3,510,698, or $1.90 a common share. Sales were $51,913,986, against $78,566,619.

The Goodrich company also announced the election of two directors to fill vacancies. L. M. Williams Jr., president of the Freeport Sulphur company, was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Col. Albert A. Sprague of Chicago. Arthur D. Newhall was named to succeed J. T. Tew, who resigned. Newhall, president of Hood Rubber company, a Goodrich subsidiary, was also appointed a vice president.

Net profit of Crown Cork and Seal, large domestic producer of bottlecaps and crowns, slipped to $903,556 or $1.26 a common share in the first six months, from $999,966 or $1.44 a share in the 1937 first half.

International Paper Has Loss.

A consolidated net loss of $576,181 was reported by International Paper and Power for the June quarter. This compared with a loss of $124,935 in the March quarter and a profit of $3,286,116 in the June, 1937, quarter.

International Paper's statement excluded operating results of International Power and Paper Company of Newfoundland, Ltd. All of the common stock of this company—700,000 shares—is being sold to Bowater's Paper Mills, Ltd., for $5,500,000, Richard J. Cullen, president, reported. The sale to Bowater's, leading newsprint producer in Great Britain, had been previously announced.

American Investment Company of Illinois, finance firm, showed net earnings of $330,665 for the first half year, compared with $300,665 in the 1937 first half.

Grains Climb; AAA Subsidy Causes Buying

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Monday.	Year ago.
Wheat .....$	.62½	$ .60¾	$1.12½
Corn	.53¾	.50¾	.98⅝
Oats	.23	.22⅝	.29⅝
Rye	.41¾	.39⅛	.81⅜
*Soy beans	.77¼	.76⅝	.99½

*October delivery.

American grain markets turned sharply upward yesterday. Corn led the advance and at the extreme top showed a gain of 3 cents a bushel over the early low point. Wheat was more than 2 cents higher.

Aggressive commission house and professional buying was in evidence in both wheat and corn as prices advanced. An early dip carried all deliveries of wheat and May corn to new low levels for the season, but there was little grain for sale when the upturn got under way.

Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were at about the best prices of the day. Corn showed net gains of 1⅞ to 2⅝ cents, and wheat was 1¾ to 2⅛ cents a bushel higher. Oats gained ¾ to ⅞ cent and rye advanced 1⅝ to 1⅞ cents a bushel.

AAA Plan Causes Buying.

Announcement the AAA would increase benefit payments on wheat and corn in an effort to induce farmers to curtail acreage of the two grains during the 1939 season was largely responsible for the aggressive buying of futures.

A marked change in sentiment regarding the probable trend of the wheat and corn markets occurred yesterday. Professional operators and many commission houses who have been expressing bearish opinions for a number of weeks said they regarded the decline in prices as having discounted the unfavorable domestic supply and demand situation.

Public speculative interests in the grain markets was larger yesterday, with considerable buying of wheat futures for investment.

Wheat Below Loan Level.

At the low point yesterday September wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade sold at 60 cents, or 15 cents a bushel below the government loan level for No. 2 red wheat in the Chicago market. A carlot of that grade sold in the sample market at 62½ cents, the lowest price paid for grain than can be delivered on future contracts since April, 1933.

Canadian wheat traders were not impressed by the strength in American markets and futures in the Winnipeg market gained only ⅞ to 1⅜ cents a bushel.

The country took advantage of yesterday's advance in corn to sell 250,000 bushels for deferred shipment, the largest day's business in some time. No export sales were reported.

LAND OF 3 MORE U. S. OWNERS IS TAKEN BY MEXICO

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Aug. 16.—Three more American owned agrarian properties totaling 5,055 acres have been expropriated by the government, it was learned today. These are in addition to others taken over since President Lazaro Cardenas refused a few weeks ago to arbitrate on indemnity payments for American lands seized in recent years. The United States embassy is investigating three other seizures of property believed to belong to Americans.

The new seizures include 580 acres from Real Del Monte company in the state of Hidalgo, 1,925 acres from John S. Robinson in the state of Tamaulipas, 2,550 acres from Kona Reeder in the state of Vera Cruz. Earlier the property of Oscar and Dora Newton in the state of Jalisco, was seized.

The embassy is investigating reported expropriations from Consulado Pratt in the state of Nuevo Leon, from Carmen Kraft in the state of Chihuahua, and from an investment company in another northern state.

Granite City Steel Cuts Salaried Employes' Pay

Granite City, Ill., Aug. 16.—(AP)—A 10 per cent pay reduction for all salaried employés was announced today by the Granite City Steel company. The cut applies to executives, clerical workers, supervisory employés and salesmen. Executives would not estimate the savings. The firm's financial report for the first six months of 1938 showed a loss of $272,000.

$4,494,000 LONDON GOLD ENGAGED FOR SHIPMENT TO U. S.

Arrangements were made yesterday for shipment of additional gold from England to the United States. Engagements in London of $4,494,000 of the metal were reported by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The bank also reported engagement of $714,000 in Australia.

United States treasury gold holdings reached $13,042,755 Aug. 13, an increase of $2,575,800 from the preceding day, the treasury's report disclosed.

The London gold market strengthened again yesterday after encountering a temporary setback Monday. Gold bars were quoted at 142 shillings 8½ pence an ounce [equal to $34.77], an increase of ½ penny over Monday's quotation.

Major foreign currencies rose in value against the dollar on exchange transactions. The British pound advanced a cent to $4.88¼. Dutch, Swiss and Holland currencies gained moderately but the French franc was off slightly.

Plans to End Gasoline War Prove Futile

Efforts to settle Chicago's gasoline price war failed yesterday. C. E. Ragan, president of the Gasoline Retailers' Association of Metropolitan Chicago, said that efforts to persuade many of the dealers to coöperate in ending the price war have failed.

O. L. Peterson, chairman of a committee of the Chicago Gasoline Jobbers' association, which also has been trying to end the war, said the price situation is back where it was when the peace efforts were started.

Retailers Balk at Plan.

The jobbers announced early last week that retail stations they controled would remove all signs giving quoted prices at midnight last Sunday. The retail group announced that they would coöperate. But when it came to putting the peace proposals into practice enough retail dealers refused to go along to make the peace effort ineffectual, Ragan and Peterson said.

Ragan said the next move will be directed toward getting the large petroleum companies to establish prices at which their products can be sold. He asserted authority to do this is contained in the Illinois fair trade act.

Oil Companies Skeptical.

The large companies declare that even if they were to take this step it would be nullified because small independent companies which do not deal in branded goods would not have to comply.

The price war started last May when the practice of many retailers granting rebates to customers spread. Many dealers posted large signs offering gasoline at prices below the regular market prices for all grades of gasoline.

STATES PAY MORE TO IDLE THAN FUNDS RECEIVE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Unemployment insurance payments exceeded contributions to the unemployment trust fund in twelve of the twenty-five states paying unemployment benefits during the first six months of this year, the social security board announced today.

Of the twelve benefit-paying states which collect contributions on a monthly basis, four states—New Hampshire, Oregon, Rhode Island, and West Virginia—had current payments greater than their current income.

Of the twenty-five states, all except three began accepting claims for benefits on Jan. 2, 1938. Mississippi and Indiana began receiving claims in April. Wisconsin first began receiving claims in July.

NORTH WESTERN, MILWAUKEE GET MERGER PLAN

Drafts of a tentative plan for the merger of the Chicago & North Western and Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific railroads were submitted to the managements of the two roads yesterday. The plan was developed by a common stockholder committee of the North Western and a preferred stockholders committee of the Milwaukee. Later it is to be given to the interstate commerce commission.

The two committees asserted their plan would result in operating economies of $10,000,000 a year if adopted.

Managements of the two roads some time ago disclosed that they were discussing informally places where they could consolidate or pool operations. Last March Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, said he was studying the feasibility of a merger.

Air Passenger Takes Injury Suit to Illinois High Court

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 16.—(AP)—The Illinois Supreme court was asked today to decide the liability for injuries to air line passengers in a case filed by Frederick H. Schnell, Chicago. Schnell contended in his petition for permission to appeal that he was injured by motor exhaust fumes while riding a National Air Transport plane to Kansas City on a business trip. He sought damages under the workmen's compensation act, but the Cook county Superior and Appellate courts ruled against him.

REO CHAIRMAN TO TAKE REINS, CUT EXPENSES

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Rowland Campbell, chairman of the board and executive vice president of the Reo Motor Car company, said today he will become acting president tomorrow. The move is the result of the resignation of Col. Fred Glover of Detroit, who was named president just prior to a special stockholders' meeting July 12 at which Campbell was given control of the company.

The resignations of Earle W. Goodnow and M. D. Harrison, directors, also were announced.

Campbell announced a program of economy that includes the renting of plant space in an attempt to reduce overhead. He said the most rigid economies are necessary if the company is to work itself "out of the red."

Campbell estimated a sale of equipment and machinery would yield $400,000 revenue to the company. Consolidation of plant units in smaller space also will slash costs, he said.

Chicago-Kansas City Air Line Round Trip Rate Cut

The Braniff Airways, effective today, will reduce the price of round trip tickets between Chicago and Kansas City from $38.70 to $28.60, Bonham Fox, city trafic manager, announced yesterday. Fox said the reduction was made to compete with the railroads.

Prices Tumble Again on Nazi Stock Marts

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—German stock exchanges, which have been going down since the middle of April, underwent another severe slump today. Losses of 4 to 5 points, particularly among heavy industrials and armament shares, were common and in some cases reached 7 to 9 points. Some shares offered could not be sold at any price.

Inasmuch as the rigidly controled stock exchanges are merely window dressing, it was obvious that losses in the private market between banks—to which most of the larger stock transactions had been sidetracked—were even larger. Bonds also continued to decline.

Much unsettlement was caused by continuing rumors that Germany is preparing to increase taxation of capital.

War Fear Blamed.

National Socialist newspapers attribute the long slump to war fear. They denounce such "psychological reactions" as "ridiculous sensitiveness, weakly pessimism and disregard of the simplest economic facts."

Financial commentators emphasize that the international situation is considered somewhat easier and in itself has provided no reason for overhasty sales. Nevertheless not only Jewish holders but industrial and bank clients continued to dump their securities.

Outside observers assert it is not merely the intangible fear of possible war that sends stock prices tumbling. They say a more concrete reason is the effect on business of German military economy generally and the special military measures undertaken in connection with the maneuvers and the speeding up of fortification works.

Paris Market Declines.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Aug. 16.—The slump on the bourse continued with accumulated momentum today. Large offerings brought losses of 4 to 7 points, with the decline affecting virtually the whole list. Bank selling on customers' orders appeared to be heavier, and chiefly accounted for the depressed market. Yesterday's official denial of impending tax increases remained without influence, and there were current rumors of fresh capital levies.

ARGUE U. S. RIGHT TO TAKE LABOR CASE FROM COURT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—(AP)—The government argued today in a Supreme court petition it had a right to withdraw from the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals litigation involving a national labor board order against the Ford Motor company.

The board had directed the Ford company to reinstate twenty-nine employés at Michigan plants and to cease interference with the self-organization of employés.

Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson and Charles Fahy, board counsel, asked the Supreme court to refuse to pass on a petition by the Ford company appealing from a decision by the Circuit court at Covington, Ky., in favor of the government.

Withdrawal of the litigation was sought by the board in order to adopt new procedure. This action was decided on after the April 25 Supreme court decision condemning procedure followed by Secretary Wallace in the Kansas City stockyards case.

Erie Road Places Orders for 3,363 Tons of Rails

The Erie railroad has placed orders for 2,127 tons of rail weighing 112 pounds a yard and for 1,236 tons of rail weighing 131 pounds a yard. Necessary track fastenings also were ordered. The orders were divided between the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation and the Bethlehem Steel corporation.

STOCKS GO UP; AUTOS FURNISH PULLING POWER

Prices Close Higher Despite Selloff.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 16.—Motors furnished the stock market with a fresh rallying point today. Leaders emerged with advances of a point or more after being up as much as 3 points in the second hour.

In comparison with yesterday's session, which gave up most of its advance in the last hour, today's market retained about two-thirds of the early gains. In the second hour 210,000 shares changed hands for a two-hour total of 360,009. The day's total was 610,000, against 593,810 the day before.

Rubbers joined the motors among the industrials, which showed a gain of 1.46 in the Dow-Jones averages to 138.44.

Utilities Firm But Quiet.

Utilities were generally quiet, but kept pace. The Dow-Jones utility average was up 0.39 to 19.80. Rails edged forward in the averages to 27.96.

After feeling their way along at the opening, prices moved up easily and briskly in the second hour. Then trading slowed.

Chrysler slipped back a point from its high for the day, but still had a net gain of 1⅞. General Motors held more than half of its move to close up ⅞.

Rubbers were pushed up in the morning, and both Goodrich and United States Rubber held gains of a point or more at the close. Goodyear and Firestone made fractional gains.

U. S. Steel Gains Fraction.

United States Steel almost reached 59, but sagged to 57½ for a gain of half a point. Bethlehem, once 1¾ points, finished with a gain of 1⅛ points. Republic closed unchanged and Inland lost ¾.

Oils moved up fractions, with chief trading interest in the Phillips Petroleum rights on a when issued basis. They closed at ⅜.

Farm implements plowed ahead with some vigor. J. I. Case was up 3 points and International Harvester moved 1½ higher. At one time it was 3 points above yesterday's close.

Montgomery Ward was the strongest of the mail orders, making a 1 point gain. Aviation issues moved up small fractions and were quiet.

Other Groups Strong.

The first sale of a membership on the stock exchange in more than a month was reported at $80,000. This is a decrease of $5,000 from the sale on July 13 at $85,000, which was the highest price this year and compares with a low for the year of $51,000.

CITE WISCONSIN OFFICIALS FOR COURT CONTEMPT

The Wisconsin public service commission and several individual officers of the state were directed to answer a contempt citation yesterday by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

The order was issued after counsel for the Ever Ready Transit company, operating freight trucks between Chicago and Milwaukee, protested to the court that the commission was interfering with its business. The company is undergoing 77-B reorganization in federal court here.

The company asserted that its trucks were ordered off the Wisconsin highways for alleged failure to pay certain state taxes.

A hearing on the order was set for Sept. 7 before Judge Charles E. Woodward before whom the reorganization case is pending. The company's headquarters are at 2366 Blue Island avenue.

DRY GOODS MEN PREDICT AUTUMN RISE IN BUSINESS

New York, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The National Retail Dry Goods association, reporting results of a poll of its members' views, announced today that 98 per cent of replying retailers look for better business in the fall.

Most of the replies expressed belief that retail sales would equal, in dollar volume, those of September, October, and November of last year, and 54 per cent of those who replied thought it possible that Christmas sales would be better than last year.

With prices estimated at around 7 per cent under 1937 levels, the survey indicated that the actual units of merchandise passing over the counter this fall will be greater than in the fall months of 1937.

I. C. C. Accepts New Plan for Great Western

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—The interstate commerce commission today approved the reorganization of the Chicago Great Western railroad. The plan approved reduces the capitalization of the road from $139,247,313 to $62,291,827. It reduces the annual interest charges from $1,858,895 to $767,071. Other charges bring the annual requirements under the plan to $1,435,242. The common stock holders lose their holdings.

This is the second plan for the reorganization of a railroad under section 77 of the amended bankruptcy act to be approved by the interstate commerce commission. The other plan is for the Spokane International.

Plan Now Up to Court.

The plan is now to be submitted to the United States District court at Chicago. If the court approves it, then it must be approved by 66⅔ per cent of each class of security holders. If the required number of security holders does not approve the plan it may be resubmitted to the interstate commerce commission and the federal court. If these two agencies then approve it the plan will become effective.

in new common stock for their $46,037,500 equity in the old preferred. Distribution of new stock, both common and preferred, places in the hands of the old bondholders 67.92 per cent of the voting power of the new company.

Other Provisions of Plan.

Here is what the plan provides:

Holders of existing first mortgage 4 per cent bonds for each $1,000 bond plus accrued and unpaid interest will receive the following approximate amounts of new securities: $285 of first mortgage 4s, $172 of general income mortgage 4½s, $515 of 5 per cent preferred stock, and $172 of common stock.

Equipment trust certificates totaling $4,208,122 on Jan. 1, 1938, will not be disturbed.

Claims of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the Railroad Credit corporation are to be satisfied in full with respect to both principal and interest by new 4 per cent bonds. Certain other smaller bond issues are provided for in the reorganization.

New Capital Setup.

The new capitalization provides: equipment obligations, $4,208,122; Wisconsin Central railway first mortgage 3½ per cent assumed bonds, maturing Jan. 1, 1950, $500,000; first mortgage 4 per cent bonds, maturing Jan. 1, 1988, $15,586,350; general income mortgage 4½ per cent bonds maturing Jan. 1, 2039, $6,095,796; 365,747 shares of -50 par of 5 per cent preferred stock, $18,287,388, and 352,283 shares of $50 par common stock, $17,614,171.

The annual requirements will be: Fixed interest, $767,071; rent for leased roads, $75,000; sinking fund charges, $93,171; and capital fund charge, $500,000. The capital fund charges are the amount that the management proposes to spend for improvement of the property.

Luther Walter, Chicago attorney, and P. H. Joyce, president of the road, are the co-trustees of the property. The Great Western went into receivership on Feb. 28, 1935.

SEC WARNS IT WILL SPONSOR OWN REFORMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—The Securities and Exchange commission will welcome investment bankers' suggestions for simplifying securities regulation, but will not adopt them unless they meet the SEC point of view. Nor will the "bars be let down."

This was the attitude of the commission as disclosed today by a high SEC official. The answer was in reply to an inquiry concerning a pamphlet issued by Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc., suggesting revision of the securities act of 1933.

Rumors have spread about the country that the SEC secretly may have blessed and inspired the Morgan Stanley pamphlet as well as the study undertaken by the Investment Bankers Association of America for simplification of the securities laws.

Denied by High Official.

This was emphatically denied today by the SEC official. The SEC certainly has not instituted any reform from without, he said, adding that the commission is considering needed changes itself through studies made by the general counsel's staf.

Complete revision of the proxy rules, announced last week, was an example of the commission's own reform work, he said. The new rules, designed to provide the stockholder with more information and give him tighter control over proxies, were issued after a three year study by the commission, helped by suggestions from outsiders, he said.

"We're willing to listen to proposals, but we certainly have no intention of letting down the bars," the official said.

No Discussions Likely Soon.

No serious discussions have taken place yet with investment bankers over revision of securities regulations and probably no discussions of this character would take place at least before December, he said.

The Morgan-Stanley pamphlet created a stir in financial districts, coming from so conservative a house. According to information at SEC headquarters, the Morgan-Stanley opinions were first issued about a year ago in the form of a memorandum for the benefit of its "friends."

As this memorandum was passed around in the financial district, demand for copies grew. Additional copies were issued in the form of pamphlets. It was not until several weeks ago, however, that its existence became known to the public after the press obtained a copy.

Morgan-Stanley's Proposals.

Among the Morgan-Stanley recommendations are: [1] That the registration period with the SEC be shortened from twenty days to ten or fifteen days; [2] that more capital be made available to underwrite securities by allowing banks and trust companies to participate but not distribute, and [3] that the membership of the SEC be increased from five to seven or nine members.

The SEC sees a "catch" in the recommendation for shortening the registration period. The contention was that salesmen have been soliciting anyway during the registration period.

The SEC reply is that a reduction of five or ten days would not make any difference and that the real aim of the investment bankers is to eliminate entirely the period of waiting. This would be contrary to SEC principles, the official said. The lapse of twenty days is regarded as necessary for complete study of the securities to be issued, he asserted, and added that the rule affords protection to the public.

Disowns Bank Question.

Any step toward restoring to banks the privilege of underwriting securities, the SEC holds, must come under federal reserve board jurisdiction. It was the banking act of 1933 that ordered banks and trust companies to discontinue the underwriting and distributing of securities.

The contention of the pamphlet was that banks could use some of their idle reserves as capital for underwriting new securities. It claimed the danger in the old setup was in allowing banks to distribute securities, not in underwriting.

The SEC is opposed to increasing its membership.

I. C. C. RAISES TRUCK RATES IN CENTRAL STATES

Acts to Stop 'War'; Sets Eastern Minimums Also.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—The interstate commerce commission today employed its wide powers under the motor carrier act for the first time to stop rate wars in the trucking industry. It established minimum rates in the two most important transportation areas of the country—the central states and New England regions.

The action gave government support to efforts of members of the industry who have been holding regional conferences in an attempt to stabilize the truck rate structure.

Illinois, Indiana Affected.

The central states decision set minimum rates between points in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan, Missouri, New York [other than the portion covered by the New England decision], Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Officials estimated the new rates for the central region will average about 3½ per cent higher than at present, and those in New England 1½ per cent higher than present rates. The commission said the motor carrier industry in the central territory "is in a demoralized condition, due, principally, to conflicting rates and practices that lack unity of action, and continuing rate wars."

Asserts Disaster Threatens.

Discussing the trucking industry the commission said "disaster threatens, and the only remaining recourse is to the power of the government."

Admitting the immensity of its task, the commission acknowledged many dangers which it faced in attempting to prescribe minimum rates. It said "the details included in the general situation are of such multitude and variety that there is danger that we may be diverted from the main issue in an attempt to deal with many minor matters."

July Volume of New Life Insurance Below Year Ago

New York, Aug. 16.—(AP)—New life insurance written in July was 28.9 per cent less than in the same month of 1937, the association of life insurance presidents reported today. The total for the first seven months of the year was 23.5 per cent under the same period last year. Forty companies having 82 per cent of the total life insurance outstanding in the United States reported a july total of $528,452,000, against $743,716,000 a year earlier. The total for the seven months was $4,213,221,000, compared with $5,504,983,000.

Continental Baking.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate any information you can give me on the Continental Baking corporation. If possible, tell me about the corporation's dividend record of the last few years.— G. K.

Answer: The Continental Baking corporation is the largest company in the American baking industry. Its products include "Wonder" bread and "Hostess" cakes, both well known to housewives. Largest part of the corporation's business is done in northern states east of the Mississippi. "Wonder" bread and rolls account for about three-quarters of the company's total sales. Bakeries are operated in sixty-eight cities located in twenty-eight states and the District of Columbia. A large fleet of the company's trucks distribute the bakery goods to about 1,500 retail outlets.

Continental Baking corporation is a holding company which was incorporated in Delaware in 1924. Its principal subsidiaries are the Continental Baking company, Taggard Biscuit Company, Inc., the Paniplus company, United Retail Bakeries, Inc., and the Hall Baking company.

Sharply lower costs of raw materials helped the company's earnings in the first quarter of this year and in the final quarter of 1937. An 18 per cent rise in poundage sales helped boost profits for 1937.

Net profit for twenty-six weeks ended June 25 was $2,077,514, equal to $1.62 per class A share, after allowing for preferred dividends. In the corresponding period of 1937 the corporation had net income of $1,472,484, but this was not sufficient to cover preferred dividend requirements of $1,603,000 for the twenty-six weeks. Earnings in recent years:

1937	$69,492,650	$4,150,683	$3.23
1936	58,162,608	3,502,487	1.01
1935	50,901,024	1,900,789	†4.74
1932	*	2,759,056	†6.07

*Not reported. †On preferred.

Outstanding capitalization consists of 400,900 shares of 8 per cent cumulative $100 par preferred, 291,813 shares of no par class A common, and 2,000,000 shares of no par class B common. Nothing has been paid on the class A shares since 1928 and no dividends have ever been paid on the class B stock. A total of $4 has been paid on the preferred so far this year, leaving an arrearage of $11.50 per share as of July 1.

The class A stock has second preference as to assets and to noncumulative dividends of $8 per share a year. It shares equally with the class B stock in voting.

Mediation Board Meets with Rail Labor Groups

The national mediation board met yesterday with railroad labor groups in an effort to settle the railroad wage dispute. In the morning it met at the Morrison hotel with a committee representing the Railway Labor Executives' association. In the afternoon it met at the Drake hotel with a committee representing the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which is playing a lone hand in the mediation proceedings. The mediation board will meet this morning with a committee representing the carriers.

Robert and Max Eitel Will Head N. Y. Fair Restaurant

Robert and Max Eitel, owners of the Old Heidelberg inn, Chicago, have been appointed co-managers of a $350,000 restaurant to be erected at the New York world fair. The restaurant, which will cover 1½ acres of ground and will accommodate 1,000 persons, is financed by Ballantine & Sons, brewers of Newark, N. J. Work on the structure will begin immediately.

'Deviled Ham Dividend' Is Sent to Wilson & Co. Stockholders

A "deviled ham dividend" was mailed yesterday to stockholders of Wilson & Co., Inc., Chicago meat packers. The "dividend"—neatly cased in a three ounce tin—was accompanied by a small octagonal card describing the merits of the Wilson product. It urges stockholders of the packing firm to try the deviled ham and to buy it often from their dealers.

The unusual "payment" is part of a growing tendency of manufacturers to seek the coöperation of security holders in expanding their markets.

The Peerless corporation of Cleveland, O., ordered payment of an increased dividend of 75 cents Sept. 15 to stockholders of record Sept. 1. The last preceding payment by the company, which manufactures ale and beer, was 30 cents on Sept. 25, 1937.

ARGENTINA DROPS PROPOSED ISSUE OF 25 MILLIONS

Reason for Surprise Action Is Mystery.

The Argentine government announced yesterday that it has withdrawn a proposed offering of $25,000,000 of bonds from the American market. The announcement came as a surprise as plans were being completed in the New York offices of Morgan, Stanley & Co. for the sale of the bonds.

The financial attaché of the Argentine embassy at Washington, D. C., first announced that the offering of the bonds was being postponed. Later it was stated that the issue was being withdrawn by the Argentine government. The Argentine legation gave no hint as to the reason for the action.

The issue of bonds was registered with the securities and exchange commission at Washington July 21.

Once Postponed.

Originally the bonds were to have been placed on the market Aug. 11. However, a postponement until Aug. 18 was announced to permit the Argentine congress to pass necessary enabling legislation. The chamber on Aug. 9 approved the bill, which increased the amount to a possible $30,000,000.

The bonds were to have carried interest at 4½ per cent and to have matured in ten years.

New York bankers said they knew of nothing in Argentina or in Europe that should have interfered with the proposed offering. However, some traders believed the foreign political situation had something to do with the action.

Intended for Public Works.

An amendment filed to the original registration statement covering the issue disclosed that 70 per cent of the proceeds was to be loaned to the city of Buenos Aires for the purpose of street improvement. The remaining 30 per cent was to be applied to Argentina's public works program.

A dispatch from THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent at Buenos Aires this week said part of the funds would be used to meet the cost of the "widest and most deserted avenue in the world." The improvement was to have been a new Nueve di Julio avenue [Ninth of July avenue] which was conceived by Dr. Mariano di Vedia, a former mayor.

The avenue was to have been 450.9 feet wide. If completed it was to have gone through the main section of the city. A small part, already completed, is being used largely for parking purposes.

COMPLETE 136 OIL WELLS IN MONTH IN ILLINOIS BASIN

Clinton county led the list with 55 producers. Other counties in order were Marion, 30; Fayette, 15; Clay, 12; Richland, 7; Lawrence, 5 [2 gas wells]; Jefferson, 4; Wayne, 3; Wabash, 2; Crawford and Clark, 1 each, and Champaign, 1 gas well.

There were 834 producers in the new field at the end of July, the report showed, led by 362 in the Centralia field. Other fields and their producers were Noble, 140; Clay City, 123; Patoka, 103; Beecher City, 35; Bartelso, 28; Dix, 16; Olney and Cisne, 7 each; Schnell [Richland county] and Lake Centralia, 3 each; Aden and Flora, 2 each; Rinard, Ina, and North Aden, 1 each.

W. M. COLLINS WINS $202,509 JUDGMENT FROM REALTY FIRM

The real estate firm of John E. Colnon & Co., 208 South La Salle street, must pay $202,509.82 to William M. Collins, Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg ruled yesterday. Collins is a former owner of Henrici's restaurant and former chairman of the board of directors of the John R. Thompson company. The case involved purchases of mortgages by Collins.

William M. Collins.

According to Edward R. Johnston, attorney for Collins, the final judgment probably will total about $350,000. Collins' relationship with the realty firm began twenty years ago when he gave John E. Colnon, then head of Colnon & Co., cash to be invested in first mortgages.

John Colnon retired in 1923 and his three sons, Aaron, Philip, and Stewart, continued the business. In 1931 Collins discovered that larger mortgages of inferior quality had been placed in his account, his attorney said. Collins made protests and the company returned $50,000 cash and the mortgages. Collins refused to accept the paper, claiming it was not good, and in 1934 brought suit in the Circuit court for an accounting.

PRICES OF LIVE STOCK FIRMER; SUPPLY LOWER

Most classes of live stock yesterday sold at strong to higher rates as supplies were held down and consumer demand for meats increased. With many kinds of meats selling at the lowest August levels in four years in retail stores, buying by housewives has expanded despite the warm weather, packers report. This was reflected in the better clearance in wholesale channels and the increased orders for animals at the Chicago stock yards yesterday.

Hogs ruled mostly strong to 15 cents higher, the top rising 15 cents to $8.90, the highest since Tuesday, last week. The average rose 10 cents to $7.70.

Steers selling upwards from $10.00 met best demand, at strong to 15 cents higher prices. Plainer classes were rather slow and about steady.

Competition for lambs was rather brisk at steady to slightly higher prices.

B. & O. CONSIDERS ACTION TO SLASH INTEREST BURDEN

New York, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Directors of Baltimore and Ohio railroad and its subsidiaries held four meetings today to consider reduction of the road's interest burdens, then adjourned without announcement.

Coming out of the last of the four meetings, Daniel Willard, B. & O. president, would say only: "No comment whatsoever."

Earlier in the day it was reported the management had drawn plans under which fixed charges on bonds would be reduced with the consent of holders.

The first of the four meetings was that of the Baltimore and Ohio board; the second, the board of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railway; the third, Buffalo and Susquehanna Railroad corporation, and the fourth the Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Western railway. The B. & O. board will hold additional meetings.

BUTTER FUTURES SET NEW LOW, RALLY FEEBLY

November butter contracts yesterday broke ⅝ cent a pound to the lowest level since August, 1935, then rallied feebly. The low for the day was 24¼ cents, and the closing price was 24¾, off ¼ cent. The Dairy Products Marketing association, federally financed agency, held spot butter prices unchanged with purchases of 1,600,000 pounds. This brought purchases to more than 40,000,000 pounds for the season. Because the DPMA is authorized to buy only up to 50,000,000 pounds, some traders were selling yesterday in the expectation that the butter market will decline when the buying program is finished. It has been rumored that the government may authorize funds to buy an additional 50,000,000 pounds, but no official announcement has been made.

CONSIDER PLAN TO SELL EXCESS WHEAT ABROAD

Wallace Submits Proposal to Roosevelt.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace yesterday discussed with President Roosevelt plans for arranging the sale of 100 million bushels of surplus American wheat in the world market.

"We would like to be sure of marketing 100 million bushels of wheat in the world market this year, and we are discussing ways and means of accomplishing that purpose," Wallace said after his conference at the White House.

Wallace would not discuss details under consideration. He said, however, in reply to a question, there is the possibility that loans may be advanced to China to enable that country to buy American flour. A similar arrangement was made several years ago.

Government farm experts also were said to be studying the possibility of a long term agreement among wheat exporting nations for a quota system to stabilize world wheat sales.

Hull Opposes Export Subsidy.

It had been reported earlier that the administration was considering an outright subsidy for wheat exports. This scheme, however, was said to be opposed by Secretary of State Hull, who has negotiated the reciprocal trade treaties with various countries in recent years.

The subsidy plan, it was reported, would enable American farmers to sell wheat on the world market at prices low enough to compete with other exporting countries. The government then would pay the farmer the difference between the price received on the foreign sale and the existing domestic market price.

The 100 million export goal mentioned by Wallace would relieve the United States of less than a third of its surplus. This year's crop, together with carryover supplies from 1937, is 325 million bushels larger than required for normal domestic consumption and reserve.

Payments May Win Farmers.

Crop authorities yesterday expressed the opinion that the 1939 benefit payments for wheat acreage reductions, announced by Wallace on Monday, would have a decided affect on next year's planting.

The payments, amounting to 26 to 30 cents a bushel, are sufficiently high, it is believed, to insure compliance by wheat growers in the semiarid belt in the southwestern states. Kansas farmers, it is estimated, will receive about as much in benefit payments as they would get for raising wheat at prevailing market prices.

SCHOOL BOARD REQUESTS BIDS ON 2 ADDITIONS

The board of education yesterday asked for bids on the first two projects in a $7,000,000 building program. A $3,150,000 grant has been made for the program by the Public Works administration. Building of a new $3,000,000 south side vocational school is included in the project and work on it will be started in October.

Bids were asked on construction of additions to the Burns elementary school, 2524 South Central Park avenue, and the Caldwell elementary school, 86th street and Cregier avenue. Other projects will be started within the next few weeks.

Contractors' bids were received yesterday by the Park board for reconstruction of the Monroe street viaduct east of Michigan avenue and the rehabilitation of the Lincoln park water system. The contracts will be awarded after the bids have been tabulated.

Dairy Products—Factories.

Limburger cheese was made by 121 factories in the United States in 1936, according to the latest figures compiled by the federal bureau of agricultural economics. These factories made 11,982,000 pounds of limburger cheese that year.

There were 4,558 companies making creamery butter, including whey butter, and five were reported as manufacturing renovated or processed butter. American cheese production was shared as follows: whole milk cheese, 2,370 factories; part skim milk American cheese, 59 factories; and full skim milk cheese, 12 factories.

Swiss cheese [including block] was manufactured by 268 plants; Munster cheese by 67 factories; brick cheese by 391; Italian varieties by 59; cream cheese by 78, and other varieties of cheese by 65 factories.

Cottage, pot, and bakers' cheese manufacturers numbered 1,297. Sweetened condensed milk production was shared according to classification and number of factories as follows: Case goods, skimmed, less than five plants; unskimmed, 20; bulk goods, skimmed, 140; unskimmed, 72 plants.

MORE BUILDING IN DEPRECIATED AREAS URGED

Called Way to Halt Decay, Help Values.

Increased building activity was urged by four speakers at a round table conference sponsored by the Citizens' Committee on Public Information last night.

Arthur Kruggel urges mass building of homes.

George Dovenmuehle, vice president of Dovenmuehle, Inc., said that conditions are favorable for building. He declared rents are high, the vacancy ratio is low thousands of vacant lots are available at attractive prices, and financing is on a sound basis.

Mass Production Urged.

Mass production of homes was urged by Kruggel. "We know it is cheaper to build a hundred homes than it is ten homes," he said. "And somewhere along the line the methods and savings that accomplish the building of homes by quantity must be developed in the building industry."

Dovenmuehle urged the rebuilding of depreciated areas. "Every city has its dust bowls that are economic and social liabilities just as every city has its neighborhood 'islands' that have been saved from depreciation," he said.

Says Values Can Be Restored.

"It is these property islands that must be protected from decay. They are the cores, or hubs, of building activity that can help to correct and restore values in these adjacent areas rather than suffer slum contagion.

'Mortgage money will not be hesitant about entering these areas if there is adequate assurance that property values will be protected and enhanced.

"Individual pride of ownership as well as community responsibility can help to enlarge these community islands in Chicago, where values have been sustained, and thus spread rehabilitation rather than obsolescence."

JULY BUILDING IS BELOW JUNE, ALSO YEAR AGO

New York, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Building industry contracts for July totaled $239,799,000, a drop of 4½ per cent under June and 25 per cent below July, 1937, the F. W. Dodge corporation, reported today. The high July, 1937, figure was primarily the result of more than $130,000,000 of public works contracts.

The total for the year to the end of July, 1938, was $1,534,071,000, or 15 per cent behind 1937 but substantially ahead of any other year since 1931.
